Sgt. Elkins 1st Under New Rotation Plan

Marion Welcomes G.I. Home From Korea War

By JOHN SHORT

Marion's first G.I. to be returned from Korean combat under the Army's new rotation plan arrived home Wednesday afternoon. And for a brief time before joining his family the city was his.

He is Sgt. 1c Douglas E. Elkins, 22-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Garland Elkins of 674 Sugar street. He arrived home after serving for more than nine months in the conflict in Korea.

Sgt. Elkins was met at Union station by his family and dozens of well-wishers including officers from the Local Organized Reserve Corps, the local Army and Air Force Recruiting office, the Army Engineer Depot and recruiting officers from Columbus. Also on hand to make the welcome official was Mayor Harold F. Robinson.

Receptions in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Elkins, Mr. and Mrs. Donald Elkins, mother and sister-in-law of the returning soldier, and his sister, Mrs. Frank Orrena, arrived at the station nearly a half hour before train time and as the hour approached crowds grew more dense.

Sgt. Elkins probably was the coolest person in the crowd when he stepped from the train at 2:50 p.m. He only rushed to him as his feet touched the ground and he embraced each.

Tours City

Army officers present introduced themselves and welcomed him and Mayor Robinson extended his greetings. Sgt. Elkins then was taken to a convertible coupe and given a police escort as he was taken around the city in a parade in his honor.

Capt. John Spain of the local ORC office and the Marion Recruiting Station had attempted to secure the services of a band for the parade but were unable to do so on such short notice. They didn't know when the guest of honor was arriving until yesterday morning.

This is the first time Sgt. Elkins has been home since Nov. 16, 1948. A member of the 21st Infantry Regiment of the 24th Division, he has been fighting Communists in Korea for nine months and 22 days. Prior to being shipped to Korea he had served for 18 months in Japan.

His visit will cover 30 days and he will then report to Fort Custer, Mich., for reassignment to a permanent station.

Red Bid To Flank Seoul Wiped Out

6,000 Routed From Threatening Position Northwest of City

TOKYO, May 10 — (AP) — United Nations troops today wiped out a flanking threat to Seoul. An Eighth Army spokesman said 6,000 North Korean Reds had been killed or routed from their threatening positions northwest of the city.

At the other end of the mobile front, Communists abandoned Inje. The town is a highway center on the eastern battle line. A U.N. armored patrol rumbled into the town unopposed.

Other tank patrols rolled through Chunchon on the central front, 45 miles northeast of Seoul, for the fifth successive day.

In northwestern Korea, 30 American F-86 Sabre jets flew patrol over Sinuiju. None of the 80 Russian-type jets parked across the river in Manchuria tried to interfere. The Air Force said was evaluating damage done to Sinuiju air field in Wednesday's mass strike by 312 U.N. jets and fighter-bombers.

Thursday 275 U. S. Fifth Air Force fighters and bombers roared out before noon to strike at rail yards in half a dozen North Korean industrial cities.

In ground actions Wednesday the retreating Reds suffered 2,130 casualties, the Eighth Army reported.

Red Radio Reports

Simultaneously the Red radio at Pyongyang asserted the Reds killed or captured 20,792 U.N. troops between April 22 and April 30. This approximated the height of the Communist spring offensive. The Allied command has made no announcement of its losses for that period. The U. S. Defense Department has reported 2,311 American casualties for the two weeks ended May 4. This did not involve other Allied losses, including a South Korean division that collapsed on a British brigade that was badly cut up.

The U.N. command estimated

New Plant Planned On Leader Street

One-Story Building To House Berlou, NaChurs Companies

Ben Peterson and Associates today announced the purchase of the face and one-half acre plot on Leader street which formerly was the site of the Storm Windows of Aluminum plant which burned in the spring of 1950.

Purchased from the Marion Metal Products Co. for an undisclosed price, the site will be used for construction of a new plant for the Berlou Manufacturing Co. makers of mothproofing, and NaChurs Plant Food Co., fertilizer manufacturers. Both of these companies are headed by M. Peterson.

The new plant building will be of concrete masonry construction. It will front 200 feet on Leader street and will be 150 feet deep, containing 30,000 square feet of floor space.

Construction is scheduled to start as soon as possible. Mr. Peterson said the building contract will probably be awarded in the next few weeks with completion

Austin Says No Need To Lose Unity

NEW ORLEANS, May 10—(AP)—Warren R. Austin, chief United States delegate to the United Nations, expressed confidence today that the U. N. can win the Korean war without sacrificing the unity of the free world.

Austin did not mention Gen. Douglas MacArthur by name, but his statement apparently was aimed at MacArthur's declaration that the United States should carry the fight to Red China even if it means going it alone.

In a speech prepared for delivery at Tulane University, where he was to be presented an honorary degree of doctors of laws, Austin declared that political and military considerations were so closely linked in the field of collective security that it was impossible to separate them.

The United States wanted the strength that comes with unity, Austin said. "We have it," he added, "we are determined to maintain it."

He cited the United Nations victory in Greece as an example of how military and political considerations must be taken together. There, too, Communist troops had operated from a "privileged sanctuary," he said, but the U. N.'s unity of purpose forced the Communists to withdraw.

Denies Influencing Loans

Dawson Testifies Party Chiefs Oked RFC Appointments

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—Donald S. Dawson, President Truman's patronage adviser, said today all appointments to the board of the Reconstruction Finance Corporation (RFC) first were cleared with the Democratic National Committee.

But he swore that he never abused his office to influence the awarding of RFC loans, as a Senate banking subcommittee has charged.

Dawson began his long-awaited appearance before the Senate investigators by reading a statement saying:

"To the best of my knowledge, I have done nothing in connection with the RFC that is improper in any way."

Senator Fulbright (D-Ark), chairman of the subcommittee, asked him if appointments to the RFC board first were cleared at Democratic headquarters.

"Yes, they were cleared," Dawson said.

Criticized

Members of the board were criticized in a subcommittee report which said they yielded to "influence" in handling loan applications. The report named Dawson as one of those who exerted influence.

But Dawson differed with the committee's size-up of the since-reorganized RFC.

"I think the RFC has done a good job," he said. "I think the organization has done an admirable job and that it is well worth while."

He conceded that he hasn't studied the loans that were rapped by the subcommittee.

Fulbright wanted to know if any positions were filled by persons named by the Democratic national committee.

Dawson sparred with the question for a moment, and then said, "Well, we didn't hold it against them."

Although Fulbright pressed him, Dawson had trouble remembering who—besides Democratic headquarters—had recommended the RFC directors. Nor could he remember the names of unsuccessful candidates for the jobs.

"You've had four months to refresh your memory," Fulbright said, "it seems to be an important matter."

Dawson said his own selection as boss of the President's personnel department came as a complete surprise even though he had known Mr. Truman since he was a senator.

Dawson said the President appoints approximately 200 key men each year.

In his opening statement, Dawson made a blanket denial of the subcommittee's charges that he was involved in a "web of influence" that improperly affected RFC loans.

Invited Questions

Dawson then invited questions, and Senator Fulbright (D-Ark), the subcommittee chairman, said

MARSHALL TELLS OF SOVIET THREAT. Russia has thousands of planes concentrated near Korea and troops massed on the Sakhalin Peninsula, Secretary of Defense George C. Marshall (left) tells the Joint Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committee in Washington as he continued his testimony. At right, Sen. Richard B. Russell, Committee chairman, points a finger as he questions the Secretary on Far Eastern policy matters.

No "Parallel" In Statement By Ridgway

Involved No Policy Clash Like M'Arthur's, Senators Informed

WASHINGTON, May 10 — (AP) — Secretary Marshall brushed aside today a suggestion that Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgeway had made statements of the kind that led to firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur. He said they were not "parallel."

For the fourth day, Marshall was in the witness chair before the Senate Armed Services and Foreign Relations Committees. They are inquiring into General MacArthur's dismissal and the Korean war policy differences behind it.

At the outset of today's session, Senator H. Alexander Smith (R-N J) quoted a two-months old statement by Lt. Gen. Matthew B. Ridgway which said "it would be a tremendous victory for the United Nations if the war ended with our forces in control up to the 38th Parallel."

Smith asked if that wasn't the very kind of statement MacArthur has been criticized for making without first clearing it with the Pentagon.

Marshall replied: "I don't think that there is a sufficient parallel there, senator. We have for example had no general public discussions regarding the 38th Parallel so far as the commanders in the field and the government here in Washington (are concerned)."

Reference Not Clear

"There Ridgeway was saying something to the encouragement of his forces, as he did in a statement that was released this morning."

It was not immediately brought out what later Ridgway statement Marshall had in mind. There was a statement today from Lt. Gen. Edward M. Almond, commander of the U. S. 10th Corps, saying the Red Chinese armies in Korea are "wilting on the vine" for lack of supplies.

Similarly, Smith raised questions yesterday about statements made by Lt. Gen. George E. Stratemeyer, air commander in the Far East. Stratemeyer had been quoted in interviews as stressing the handicaps imposed by the fact he was unable to strike at enemy planes while they were on the ground at Manchurian bases.

In response to other questions from Smith, Marshall said the administration "very carefully considered" the effect on the Japanese people before removing MacArthur as occupation chief.

Smith had asked whether those who ousted MacArthur took into account "the inevitable adverse relations with Japan at this critical moment."

Marshall said it was generally recognized that MacArthur's prestige with the Japanese people "was not to be duplicated, certainly in a short time, by any other individual."

"Divided Authority"

He went on to say, however, that if MacArthur had been allowed to remain as occupation chief, while losing his post as United Nations commander in the Korean war, the result would have been "divided authority which might open up many confusions."

Smith had suggested MacArthur was unnecessarily humiliated by being removed from his Japanese command, even if the administration felt it necessary to replace him as commander in Korea.

Smith also asked whether the administration considered, in deciding to dismiss MacArthur, the possible effect on the pending peace treaty with Japan.

And he wanted to know whether John Foster Dulles was consulted in advance of the firing. Dulles is a Republican adviser to Secretary of State Acheson and has been handling preliminary negotiations regarding the Japanese treaty.

Marshall said Dulles was not consulted. He reiterated that President Truman formally consulted with him (Marshall), Secretary Acheson, Gen. Omar N. Bradley, chairman of the Joint Chiefs of Staff, and W. Averell Harriman,

Vote To Hike Income Tax By $3 Million

Upped 15 Percent In Low-Income Bracket; Corporations Next

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—The House ways and means committee turned today to proposals to increase corporation taxes after voting a $3,000,000,000-a-year rate rise for individual income taxpayers.

The individual increase—three percentage points across the board in each tax bracket—was adopted yesterday by a close margin. That means a hike of about 15 percent in actual amount of taxes persons in the lower income brackets would pay. For persons in the $500,000-a-year class, the hike would be about three percent.

According to reports coming from the closed session, the tally was 13 to 12 for the increase, with two Democrats joining the 10 com-

Marshall Tells "Exact Truth," Says Truman

Disclaims Report Acheson, O'Dwyer On Way Out

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—President Truman today described Marshall's testimony on the MacArthur ouster as the exact truth, word for word.

Mr. Truman's statement to a news conference was in response to requests for comment on the Senate inquiry into Far Eastern policy and his firing of Gen. Douglas MacArthur from the Far Eastern commands.

Mr. Truman said he is very well satisfied with Gen. Marshall's statement of the adminstration's position. And he added that Gen. Marshall told the exact truth, word for word.

Marshall, 70-year-old secretary of defense, has been the administration's lead off witness in reply to MacArthur. He has contended MacArthur was so out of sympathy with administration policy that there was no alternative except to relieve him of his commands.

Mr. Truman had only one other comment on the Korean situation. A woman reporter wanted to know how it would be possible to unify Korea if the Chinese Reds are not driven out.

Doesn't Know

Mr. Truman told her if she could answer that question, she would be a genius.

In response to other questions President Truman said there is no foundation in fact to reports that Secretary of State Acheson may leave office within a few months.

Mr. Truman also told a news conference:

Reports he will recall William O'Dwyer as ambassador to Mexico likewise are rumors, with no foundation in fact.

He is backing completely Price

Russia Sending Wheat to India

NEW DELHI, INDIA, May 10—(AP)—Famine-threatened India announced today that Soviet Russia had agreed to sell her for cash 50,000 tons of wheat—and that Russians ships are already on the way here with some of it.

A government announcement said the agreement to buy the 50,000 tons was the "first result" of negotiations with the Soviet embassy here, begun last week, on a Russian offer to supply 500,000 tons.

Earlier Prime Minister Nehru in a surprise announcement to an applauding parliament said Russian ships already were on the way to India with wheat cargoes.

The government announcement said the 50,000 tons would be moved in Russian ships and "deliveries should be completed by the end of June."

Officials Sympathetic, But "It's the Law"

Veteran Denied Treatment By VA; Say Korea Not "Recognized War"

TUCSON, Ariz., May 10—(AP)—A former Marine who fought in the Korean war has been denied treatment in a Veterans Administration hospital because he is not a veteran of a recognized war.

The veteran, David R. Arellano Jr., 21, of Tucson, was unable to enter the hospital yesterday. He was then taken to Pima County Hospital and operated on for a throat cancer.

Col. J. E. Gaines, hospital manager, said he was unable to help the one-time member of a bazooka squad because actually the United States is not at war with Korea.

He said under present laws the Korean combat veteran is still in the same status as a soldier discharged in peace time.

"Under the present setup no returned veteran from Korea is eligible for hospital benefits unless he has been discharged from the service because of a duty disability."

"It is a national policy," he stated.

His stand was backed by William T. Hardaway, manager of the regional VA office in Phoenix.

"The law says that we will provide hospitalization for veterans of wars the United States has fought," Hardaway said. "Technically this man is not a veteran of a recognized war."

Arellano was discharged under the Armed Services Dependency act. He was also wounded in Korea, but his injuries reportedly had nothing to do with his discharge. He received his discharge two months ago.

Gaines expressed regret he had been unable to help Arellano.

"We at the veterans' hospital are completely sympathetic with the plight of these men. Under the present status we are not at war in Korea so these men are not eligible for treatment."

Then he added:

"If it isn't a war, I'd like to know what the hell it is."

Change Law, Truman Says

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—President Truman said today veterans of the Korean fighting should be given every benefit made available by the government to veternas of other wars.

He said it was up to Congress to change the law under which hospitalization was denied by the Veterans Administration to a Korean veteran for a non service-connected disability.

Higher than average mechanical aptitude was shown by all 16 Harding High School vocational department students recently given machine-shop practice tests by the Ohio State Employment Service.

This was announced today by Fred B Scherff, manager of the Marion O S E.S. office.

The tests were given as part of a cooperative program between the employment service and the schools to place the boys in local industry following high school graduation.

Of the 16 boys tested, eight showed especially high aptitudes for machine shop work while the other eight exhibited above average ability in this line. Three of the 16 expressed a desire to remain with employers who have given them part-time work in connection with their machine-shop training at the school.

Interviews have been arranged for the other 13 boys with prospective employers, Mr. Scherff said.

The tests were given with the cooperation of Eric Williams, Harding High School vocational coordinator, by Mrs. Virginia M Gettys of the Ohio State Employment Service.

Other Students Tested

Only the limited number of employment service personnel has precluded the extension of the vocational testing program to all county schools, Mr. Scherff said. Several county schools have been contacted and some of their students tested, however, he said.

The employment service manager today extended an invitation to all city and county high school graduates to contact the employment service if they desire assistance in getting a job after graduation

Airport in Hole For First Four Months of Year

The Marion Municipal Airport lost $2,471.43 during the first four months of 1951 but the City Auditor Elmer Shaw reports it is nothing to worry about.

The main source of revenue for the airport is the farm which has been rented on a share crop basis to Kenneth Foos of near Marion. He has already begun planting his spring crops.

The crops scheduled for this year include: 135 acres of soybeans, 130 acres of oats, 100 acres of corn, and 80 acres of wheat. The estimated revenue on the share crop plan is $6,000. This money will not be paid to the city until the crops are sold in the fall.

Estimated revenues for the year from Trans World Airlines and other airport traffic is $2,400 and from the sale of gas and oil $2,000, Mr. Shaw reports.

The estimated income is $10,400 per year and the estimated expenses, which include payrolls and purchases of supplies, is $9,500 per year.

TO DOFF UNIFORM

NEW YORK, May 0—(AP)—The famous braid hat and uniform worn by Gen. Douglas MacArthur may soon give way to mufti. The general's aide, Maj. Gen. Courtney Whitney, said yesterday that MacArthur has been fitted for civilian clothes for the first time in 11 years. Whitney added that he doesn't know when MacArthur will don his "civvies."

4 Hot Issues Up For Vote In Legislature

Senate Action Due On 3; Gambling Bill Up Before House

COLUMBUS, O., May 10—(AP) — The Ohio Legislature scheduled votes today on four red-hot issues as it continued to press for early adjournment.

The measures, three in the Senate and one in the House:

1. A bill to permit padlocking of gambling establishments as common nuisances (House).

2. A bill to prohibit the State Department of Liquor Control from freezing liquor permits at a point below the legal quota.

3. A bill to reorganize the state's Civil Service system by junking the present two-member commission and substituting a three-member commission with a $9,000-a-year administrator.

4. A bill to permit municipal transit firms to carry appeals from city-established fares direct to the State Utilities Commission.

The padlock bill, by Rep. John V. Corrigan (D-Cuyahoga), is one of the measures in the Legislature's anti-gambling campaign. It permits padlocking of an establishment for one year or requires the posting of a $5,000 bond pending good behavior.

Awaits Senate Vote

Its anti-gambling crusade companion measures are the sheriff-mayor-prosecutor removal bill, now awaiting Gov. Frank J. Lausche's signature, and the House-approved bill making possession, display or transportation of slot machines a felony. That bill now is awaiting a Senate vote.

The measure curbing the state's Liquor Department's right to freeze permits is sponsored by Sen. Arthur Blake (D-Belmont). It requires the department to issue permits to qualified persons in those areas where there are fewer permits than allowed under the quota set up in the law.

The civil service bill was introduced 10 days ago in the Senate by the committee which spent some weeks investigating operations and policies of the present commission. It was rushed through committee and comes up for a Senate vote in near-record time

The transit firm measure is sponsored by Rep. Robert A Pollock (R-Stark). To a large degree, it restores the rights of transit utility firms to what they were before 1929. Some complaints against the bill have been raised by Ohio's larger cities on the grounds the right of the utilities to appeal to the PUCO curbs home rule to some extent.

The Senate approved and sent to the House measures to:

Set up a state regulating system for slaughtering of horses and the processing, labeling and sale of their meat for human food.

Direct the governor to proclaim the fourth Friday of each April as "Arbor Day."

License tourist camps and motels.

The Senate received from Sens. Fred Danner (R-Summit) and James Headley (R-Cincinnati) a bill setting up a commission to study various state pension systems and recommend whether they should be merged into a single uniform system.

Hold 4 in Narcotics Probe in Cincinnati

CINCINNATI, May 10—(AP)—A Cincinnati narcotics investigation had four more men under questioning today.

The four were taken into custody yesterday and detectives said they found 23 capsules of heroin on the men.

All four were held without charge.

The investigation started several days ago after three men died within a period of several hours. Police believed the men had died from taking undiluted heroin and Coroner Herbert P. Lyle still is investigating that.

Several others have been questioned in connection with the use of narcotics.

Bishop Criticizes Delay in Sending Wheat to India

PORTSMOUTH, O., May 10—(AP)—Methodist Bishop Hazen G. Werner of the Ohio area last night took Congress to task for not sending surplus wheat to India.

He spoke to a Portsmouth Methodist district meeting attended by 1,200 persons from seven counties. He said:

"In my opinion, the failure to send surplus U. S. wheat to India for the actual saving of life is a historical tragedy second only to the loss of China to communism. The wheat in itself could well represent an investment in defense."

India could become a "great bastion against communism," he said.

County Upheld In Suit Over Road Contract

Taxpayer Loses Appeal to Third District Court

The taxpayer's suit filed by Lester L. Clymer of near Marion against the Marion County commissioners and other county officials has been dismissed by the Third District Court of Appeals.

The district court upheld Marion County Common Pleas Court in its verdict against the plaintiff.

The suit was filed by Mr. Clymer after the commissioners awarded a contract for road work in Marion County to the U. S. Construction Co of Upper Sandusky last summer. The Upper Sandusky firm was awarded the contract on a bid of $70,497 32, $277.77 higher than a bid entered by L. C. Grindell of Richwood. Mr Grindell's bid was $70,219.55.

Mr. Clymer filed the suit in Common Pleas Court here seeking an injunction against awarding of the contract. Common Pleas Court upheld the commissioners at the hearing last June and the verdict was appealed.

Appeals Court Judges George S Middleton, Walter S. Jackson and Charles A. Guernsey upheld the local court in its verdict.

The Sanders and Grigsby law firm of Marysville represented Mr. Clymer while the county officials were represented by Prosecutor Ralph Carhart.

Complete Plans For County Road Program

The county commissioners and county engineer Walter W. Johnson today announced that as a result of the Court of Appeals decision in the taxpayer's suit, the county can now complete plans for its 1951 road improvement program.

Plans for the road program for this year are near completion and announcement of the program will be made in a few days, the county officials said.

No final decision has yet been reached on how many of the roads which have had to be bypassed in the past year's work plans because of the suit can be included in the 1951 program, they added.

All of the top 25 scorers in the county will receive certificates marking their scholastic achievement.

Median score of the Marion County students was 100 right answers the same as the median for the entire state.

The test questions covered the English, arithmetic, science and history.

Marshall

special adviser to the President.

"I do know that the President did speak to three or four others" Marshall said "I am quite certain Mr Dulles was not among those four, but I cannot be positive"

Questions Action

Smith asked: "Does it not seem strange when the President asked Mr. Dulles to take that responsibility of carrying on those negotiations for the peace treaty, the possible effect on all that by the removal of General MacArthur—does it not seem strange Mr. Dulles was not asked what his views would be?"

Marshall: "I believe I explained yesterday that that matter of General MacArthur's relation to the peace treaty was discussed at considerable length. However, the Secretary of State was present to give his views in relation to that matter"

Smith said that as a member of the foreign relations subcommittee considering the Japanese treaty, "I feel very much frustrated by this development (MacArthur's removal) because I don't know what our responsibilities are, how we carry through on them."

"General Ridgway admittedly knows nothing about them, and Mr. Dulles may have to go out there with very little background and carry the load," Smith said

Marshall said that was a matter for the State Department, not the Deprtment of Defense. He was suggesting that Smith should go into the question with State Department officials, when they come before the committees, rather than pursuing it with him. Acheson is to be a witness later.

Only 11 Present

Only 11 of the 26 members of the combined Senate armed services and foreign relations committees were in the room when Chairman Russell (D-Ga) rapped for order and the doors were closed.

Marshall told the committees yesterday the primary reason the President fired MacArthur was that the Pacific commander had raised the question of whether he or Mr. Truman spoke with the most authoritative voice on foreign affairs. MacArthurs' statements, he said, threatened to alienate U. S. Allies and force this country to "go it alone" in Korea

"By his public statements he had created a feeling of great uneasiness among our Allies as to the consequences of his proposals." Marshall said of MacArthur. He added:

"He was creating a feeling of uncertainty with our Allies as to who was directing these affairs—our Chief Executive, as executive agent for those Allies, or otherwise."

Maj. Gen Courtney Whitney, MacArthur's personal adviser, told newsmen in New York yesterday MacArthur had not argued against any policies already in effect.

"What he was calling for was a definitive policy to fill the policy vacuum left in the wake of China's entry into the war," Whitney said.

MacArthur has urged broader prosecution of the war against Communist China; bombing of bases in Manchuria, a blockade of the China coast and use of Chinese Nationalist forces now neutralized on Formosa.

Marshall, for the administration, has argued the course MacArthur advocated would greatly increase the danger of Russian intervention and might touch off a new world war.

Whitney also said it is not true, as Marshall had testified, that troop morale in Korea might be harmed by MacArthur's statements about heavy casualties and his prediction that the war will end in a stalemate.

"The fact that General MacArthur has had the courage to call for measures designed to protect his former command will react favorably on the morale of the troops," Whitney said. "This indeed seems to have been the case"

In his testimony yesterday, Marshall alluded to a March 24 statement in which he said MacArthur "jumped the gun" on a proposed presidential pronouncement of terms on which the United Nations forces might be willing to talk a cease-fire with the Chinese Communists in Korea.

The defense secretary contended MacArthur had killed any chance of negotiations by hinting that unless the Reds talked peace the U.N. might expand the war to China's coastal areas and interior bases.

Marshall said MacArthur's assertion truce talks should not be "burdened" by any discussion of the fate of Formosa and a U.N. seat for Red China "set up a very serious consideration" because it involved "possible political consequence of great importance" to U. S Allies.

Sees No Clash

Marshall has made it clear the Truman administration opposes any move to give Formosa to the Reds or to seat them on the Security Council. But he said the United States can't avoid having such proposals discussed because other U.N. members will insist upon it.

Senator Smith said he couldn't see where MacArthur's statement clashed with administration foreign policy.

Marshall entered his fourth day of questioning, which may last all week, with Republicans still hammering away on the theme that MacArthur was badly treated by being summarily dismissed.

hoped for some time late in the fall.

The Berlou and Na-Churs plants will be moved from their present locations at 126 Blaine avenue and 127 Garden street as soon as the new plant is completed. Then the present factory sites will be leased

The new plant building will be built on the foundation of the old Storm Windows plant.

The new plant is being built to accommodate the rapid expansion of the two businesses, Mr. Peterson said. The two companies, which employ 75 persons, have outgrown their present quarters, he said.

Fluctuating costs in the building field make it impossible to estimate what the new plant will cost, he said.

2. What is the procedure for citing, trying and punishing the witnesses?

3 What punishment may the General Assembly impose if the witnesses are found guilty of contempt?

4. If the witnesses are cited to appear before a court, what court and what procedure should the General Assembly or the committee follow?

MAY SELL BROWNS

ST. LOUIS, May 10—(AP)—The controlling owners of the St. Louis Browns said today they might be forced to sell the club because of poor attendance. And Bill and Charley Dewitt, the brothers who own 58 percent of the club's stock, admitted that a reported plan to move the franchise to Milwaukee, Wis., "seems to be one that could be worked out."

BOWS TO PRESSURE

PANAMA, PANAMA, May 10—(AP)—President Arnulfo Arias bowed to police and public pressure today and ordered restoration of the 1946 constitution which he scrapped last Monday. By this action, which won over police support, he hoped to stay in office. His decision came after a day and night of rioting in which at least three persons were killed and 110 wounded or injured as angry crowds surged through the capital's streets, clamoring for the President's ouster.

Charles P. Taft Denies Senator's Endorsement For Governor of Ohio

CINCINNATI, May 10—(AP)—Charles P. Taft today denied that U. S. Senator Robert A. Taft—his brother—"has approved and endorsed my candidacy for governor."

Charles Taft was quoted in Dayton yesterday as saying he will seek the Republican nomination for governor of Ohio.

In a statement, the senator's younger brother said:

"A dispatch Wednesday quoted me as saying in effect that my brother, the senator, approved and endorsed my candidacy for governor. I intended no such inference and the senator has made no such endorsement or given any such approval.

"If I decide to run for governor I hope that the senator will take no part in the Republican primary campaign for governor. If I run I expect to do so on my own record and not on his."

Reds Routed

Red losses for the nine-day offensive at 75,000 men.

The Pyongyang broadcast said 81 Allied planes were shot down during the period, 4,161 rifles and 498 automobiles captured, 76 U.N. tanks destroyed and 39 others damaged.

The Red broadcast did not mention current actions.

The Eighth Army reported Red resistance northwest of Seoul dwindled Wednesday in the face of a South Korean advance started this week. An Eighth Army spokesman said the Republican troops, backed by American artillery and planes, had wiped out a flanking threat to Seoul.

Reds Still Hold Out

But Reds still held out east of the Seoul-Musan highway up which the South Koreans drove.

Field dispatches said Allied artillery knocked out 1,000 fighting Reds northwest of the old South Korean capital.

Few Reds were found by patrols anywhere along the central front.

Ex-Marion Man Killed In Auto Accident

John Roland Boltz, 37, of Wapakoneta, a former resident of Marion, was killed in an automobile accident Wednesday near Wapakoneta.

He was injured fatally when the car he was driving got out of control about 12:10 a.m. and overturned. His chest was crushed. The accident happened east of Wapakoneta, and it is believed that Mr. Boltz was enroute to Marion where relatives reside.

A veteran of World War II, he worked in Marion about nine months at the Marion Metal Products Co., leaving here about a year ago. His recent employment was as a B. & O. Railroad section worker.

Born Jan. 29, 1914, in Wapakoneta, he was a son of Albert and Mary Widner Boltz. During World War II, he served three and a half years in the Eighth Air Force in Europe and was a sergeant. He was a member of V. F. W. in Wapakoneta and of the Moose Lodge in Marion.

Surviving are his parents, who live in Wapakoneta, and sisters and brothers, Mrs. Bernard Harvey, Robert Boltz, and Mrs. John Marshall all of Marion, and Mrs. Gladys James, Miss Doris Boltz and James Boltz, all of Wapakoneta, four nieces and three nephews. Another sister, Mrs. Charles J. Crossley, died April 13, this year.

Funeral services will be conducted Saturday at 2:30 p.m. in the Siferd and Brookhart Funeral Home in Wapakoneta. Rev. Jacob Schick of St. Mark's Lutheran Church will officiate. Burial will be in St. Joseph's Cemetery at Wapakoneta. Friends may call at the funeral home.

Resigns as Foreman Of Sanitation Department

Charles Messenger of 66 West Fairground street, foreman for the city Sanitation Department, has announced that he will leave his job with the city Saturday to become a salesman for the Jewel Tea Co. He has been employed by the city for 2½ years.

Mayor Harold F. Robinson announced today that Wesley Honaker of Lincoln avenue, now street foreman, will take over the Sanitation Department post. Mr. Honaker will be foreman in both Street and Sanitation Departments.

Truman

Administrator Michael DiSalle's meat price control order.

DiSalle's order has brought a flood of protests from packers and others.

Same Old Fight

Commenting on the protests, Mr Truman said it was the same old fight. He added: "When you tread on somebody's toes, he's going to scream.

He said the order was put up to him in advance and he approved it.

The question of Acheson's future in the administration was raised by a reporter who told Mr. Truman there had been reports Acheson was getting out within two weeks, two months and a few months.

The President said that was a rumor that had no foundation in fact.

Old Army Pastime Never Dies—Deal 'Em, Sarge

WESTERN FRONT, KOREA, May 10 — (AP) — A sergeant without much to do in the lull along the western front sent this order to a Post Exchange at the rear:

Income Tax

mittee Republicans in opposition. No names were announced.

It also was reported, however, that the Republicans lost out 15 to 10 on a straight party-line division on a substitute plan which would have simply increased each taxpayer's obligation by 10 percent. Such an increase would have had a lighter impact on smaller taxpayers than the plan tentatively adopted.

Sought 4 Percent

The administration had sought an increase of four percentage points in each bracket, for an estimated $3,600,000,000 additional revenue yearly.

If finally approved by the House and Senate, the three-point increase will raise taxes of a married man with two dependents and an income of $5,000 before exemptions from $520 a year to $598. For a $10,000 man, the new tax would be $1,820 compared with $1,592 at present.

Individual income taxes have already been hiked once since the Korean war started. The boost was effective last Oct. 1.

The tax-drafting committee approved special relief for single persons who are the heads of families—widows, for example. Although details are still to be worked out, such persons would get approximately half the tax advantage now enjoyed by married couples with the same income who take advantage of the income splitting provision of the 1948 revenue law.

Recommended Hike

The administration has recommended that $3,000,000,000 additional taxes be levied on corporations by an increase of eight percentage points in the normal corporate rate. If adopted, the rate on the first $25,000 of taxable corporate income would go up from 25 to 33 percent, and the general rate applicable to income in excess of $25,000 from 47 to 55 percent. Appropriate adjustments also would be made in the excess profits tax.

Was Squad Leader

His group, the first to leave Korea under the new plan, was in Korea as late as April 22. Sgt. Elkins has served as a squad leader in his regiment which had been in action in Central Korea.

Talking very little about his combat experiences, Sgt. Elkins appeared more comfortable and relaxed after the official reception at the depot was completed and he had arrived home with the family.

Sgt. Elkins wears a Presidential Unit Citation, the Japanese Occupation ribbon and is eligible for two campaign ribbons from Korea.

At the time he was sent to Korea, he held the rank of corporal but was promoted soon after his arrival. His plans for the future are indefinite but an Armed Forces career is high on the list, he indicated.

Friends and other relatives took up most of the sergeant's time last night as open house was observed at the Elkins home. Mr. and Mrs. Elkins had just one thing to say, "It's just wonderful having 'im home."

Accompanied by Others

Sgt. Elkins was accompanied as far as Marion by two other combat veterans of the Korean campaign. They were Sgt. 1/c Lee Anderson of Monroe, N. Y., holder of the Silver Star, and Cpl. Granger of Jersey City, N. J., who was awarded the Purple Heart. They had boarded the train in Seattle, Wash., where they arrived by ship from Korea Saturday.

Admitting that he was not allowed to talk about all phases of the war, Sgt. Elkins said the recent dismissal of General MacArthur had little effect on the morale of the fighting men. Most of the men have faith in General Matthew Ridgway and the shift has caused little concern among the fighting men

He said some rumors that the American fighting man had no idea why he was fighting in Korea were not true. "Any soldier capable of accepting responsibility knows why he is fighting the Reds," Elkins reported.

Churchill Asks Halt on British Rubber to Chinese

LONDON, May 10—(AP)—Winston Churchill demanded today an immediate halt of all British rubber shipments to Red China.

He told the House of Commons during a debate on export of strategic materials to the Chinese Reds that the Labor government's policy on rubber and other matters involving Peiping is impairing British-American relations.

"We should stop at once—abruptly, permanently and decisively—exports of rubber to China," the Conservative leader said.

"This would clear the air. It would be a step that everybody could understand, that might well be the prelude to a whole-hearted agreement with the United States."

Churchill said that Britain's recognition of Red China in 1949 had "much offended" America, and added that as a result Britain is "in the illogical position of having diplomatic relations with a Chinese government formally censured by the United Nations, and which is engaged in attacking United States soldiers, United Nations soldiers and also our small contingent in Korea."

Civil Defense Program For P.-T.A. Drafted

CHICAGO, May 10—(AP)—Members of the nation's Parent-Teacher groups today were urged to help maintain the morale of the civilian population."

The National Congress of Parents and Teachers made public the organization's civil defense program for its 35,000 P-T-A units.

There is every likelihood that we in America must continue to live under the stress and strain of international mistrust and uncertainty for the next several years," it set forth.

Accordingly, our foremost task is to build inner emotional stability and security in both young people and adults."

Among the activities recommended to members were

Mental health programs that will educate parents and teachers to prevent fear and panic among children.

Steps to maintain adequate school budgets to prevent overcrowding and a lowering of educational standards.

Many Projects Planned by Units Of Garden Club

Beautification of McKinley Park is one of many projects planned this summer by the Marion Garden Center, Mrs. J. W. Bull, center chairman said today.

Two Garden Club units, the Good Earth and the House and Garden groups are planning to beautify the park. Plans call for planting shrubs, taking care of the flowers, planting water lilies in the pond and keeping McKinley Lake fresh.

Projects to be carried out by other clubs include: care of courthouse lawn and flowers and shrubs around the Veterans Memorial Coliseum by the Green Thumb unit, beautification of the old cemetery on Quarry street by the Sun and Shade unit; care and beautification of the islands at South Main street and Delaware avenue by the Garden Gate unit.

Dayton Editor Says Press Kept From Crash Scene

DAYTON, O., May 10—(AP)—The commanding general of Wright-Patterson Air Force Base today is studying a complaint involving treatment of Dayton Journal Herald men at the scene of an airplane crash on private property.

The morning newspaper's managing editor, John Moore, Jr., wrote Lt. Gen. Benjamin Chidlaw about the incident. He said one of his reporters and a photographer were not permitted to get close to a B-25 bomber crash Tuesday for nearly an hour.

The paper got good pictures later. But this was only after a guard grabbed the photographer's arm and used abusive language, Moore's letter said. The guards are civilian employes of the field.

A copy of the letter was sent James Pope, managing editor of the Louisville Courier-Journal and chairman of the American Society of Newspaper Editors' committee on freedom of information.

Moore's letter said in part:

"Such incidents as these raise important questions involving the military and the press. Such incidents are important not only to the Journal Herald but to other newspapers, since abuse of this sort is occurring with increasing frequency."

The field's public relations office said a reply will be made after further study.

Inside Labor

By Victor Riesel

OUR very good friends and military allies of Western Europe apparently don't take the death of our GIs and a few (very few) of their own fighting lads as a personal result. Money is money to our very good friends, whether it's rubles, zlotys or yen. And our very good friends are raking it in by the hundreds of millions by building ships, whole factories, huge military cranes, precision gun-making machines and even troop-carriers for the Soviet and its satellite armies—right now!

Furthermore, many in European industrial and military circles sneer at us smokin' Americans for being deceived by this trade with the totalitarians, which has increased up to 2200 percent on many Soviet-satellite items.

Victor Riesel

It was a secret U. S. Senate investigating agent who first discovered it for us. Acting under instructions from Maryland's Senator Herbert O'Conor, who's been probing this international crime as well as our own war combine, this agent slipped quietly into one check point on the border of the Russian zone in Germany. Hidden for an hour, he was horrified to see huge trucks racing into Red territory at the rate of one every three minutes.

THERE WAS NO examination of the loads, although these ranged up to 30 tons and had trailer units, no less.

The Senate prober (whose discoveries are now in Sen. O'Conor's hands, soon to be made public) quickly learned, for example, that 20-ton cranes were being moved to the Russians. How, when 20-ton cranes are illegal shipments? The transport ticket was simply marked — 18 tons. That's legal. Whole factories were being carried across, marked "spare parts." Then they were reassembled in Eastern Europe. So it went with iron, steel, machines, tools and chemicals for war on United Nations troops.

For years A.F.L. observers in Europe have been warning the State Department and Department of Defense about this, but not a counter-move was made.

Now comes the C.I.O. with new evidence of equally ghoulish trade. From Joe Curran's C.I.O. National Maritime Union, certainly a friend of our very good friends the Western Democracies, we learn that the very nations whose shipyards we have helped to rebuild—are repaying us by producing essential ocean-going heavy equipment for Russia!

BIG JOE CURRAN is a vice president of C.I.O. and has helped formulate its policies for all-out aid to the free lands of Europe. Therefore, his union's criticism must be taken with double seriousness. Neither he nor the sophisticated anti-Communists around him would do anything to hurt potential allies and free workers abroad unless it were bitterly necessary.

But now, apparently, this group of militant C.I.O. sailors believes the time has come to scream out. The union's well-informed Washington representative, the executive secretary of the C.I.O. Maritime Committee, Hoyt Haddock, reports that Italy, Holland and Belgium are helping the Soviet rebuild its cargo and passenger fleets (and for the word "passenger," please say "potential troop carrier").

Haddock reveals that Holland "has a trade agreement with Russia which specifies she is to build 25 vessels for Russia, including three cargo ships, six tankers, five refrigerated ships, 10 whalers and one whaling factory ship."

THIS SAME REPORT to the union adds that, "In addition, Holland has contracted to build three additional diesel-electric cargo vessels . . . (and) Holland shows every inclination of building all the vessels Russia is willing to pay for."

This indicates that Holland may become the shipyard for the Soviet now needing oil tankers and special vessels for swift movements of food for its armies in the steaming Oriental waters.

The C.I.O.'s maritime "eye" in Washington, further discloses that Belgium has "accepted Russian orders for five cargo vessels of 3,000 gross tons each and seven trawlers of 1,500 gross tons each. 'Italian yards have accepted Russian orders for two cargo-passenger vessels of 2,750 gross tons each."

These easily become priceless troop carriers and supply ships in wartime.

And Haddock, whose national C.I.O. was the first labor organization to put Gen. Marshall on a speakers' platform, winds up angrily by saying:

"We give our wholehearted support to the aims of the Marshall plan. However, we firmly believe that this nation must hold strings which would discourage nations receiving ECA aid from arming the enemy. We deplore the U. S. policy which allows our resources to arm the enemy."

Amen!

House OKs 2 Bills Aimed At Truckers

COLUMBUS, May 10—(AP)—The state Senate today received House-approved measures to jump truck taxes another $5,700,000 a year and give the State Highway Patrol another 250 men to curb truck overloading.

The companion measures were passed by the House yesterday, the tax bill 89-36 and the patrol bill 115-1.

Fate of the tax measure in the Senate which only Tuesday received a proposed highway financing program from one of its own members, was uncertain. The Highway Patrol expansion measure seemed certain to be approved.

The House truck tax measure boosts truck license fees 22½ percent across the board, but exempts farm trucks and buses.

The purpose of the increase is to make truckers help pay for road repairs.

Before final House approval, Democrats tried to substitute the ton-mile tax urged by Gov. Frank J. Lausche for the license tag increase measure. But Speaker Gordon Renner ruled out the attempt.

The ton-mile levy would tax truckers on the basis of weight and miles traveled.

Then a Republican effort to substitute part of the Senate highway financing plan offered Tuesday by Sen. Ralph A. Winter (R-Medina) for the bill was defeated. Rep. Robert L. Johnson (R-Medina) offered the proposal for increasing truck license fees by $25,000,000 a year, but it was tabled 75-28.

The amendment to exempt buses from license fee increases was adopted 67-48 after the House was told a bus tax increase might result in a boost in Cincinnati's 15-cent bus fare.

The Highway Patrol bill raises the ceiling for the force from 400 to 650, although only 352 are on the patrol's pay roll now.

A portion of the increased personnel may be used to intensify the patrol's check on freight truck overloads as a result of the hue and cry which has been raised over millions of dollars worth of damage to Ohio highways during the last winter. Whether the damage was caused by the severe weather, the big trucks or a combination of both has been a hot subject for debate during hearings on the truck tax increase bills.

MRS. L. BARTON
910 Wallace, R. 1
N. Olmstead, O.

If ugly fat is hiding your slender figure, you'll be interested in the success experienced by thousands upon thousands of people like Mrs. Leonard Barton.

Here is Mrs. Barton's own statement: "Having heard so much about Rennel I decided to try it. After using five bottles I have lost 38 lbs. in about two and one half months. To lose weight and to keep regular there is nothing finer. I have not dieted either. My husband has started taking it, and on the first bottle says he feels so much better. He also has already lost some weight."

It's amazing how quickly you can lose unsightly fat at home. Obtain 4 ounces of liquid Rennel Concentrate at your druggist. Pour this into a pint bottle and add enough grapefruit juice to fill bottle. Then take two tablespoonfuls twice a day. That's all there is to it. No diets to complicate your meal planning. If the very first bottle doesn't show you the simple easy way to lose ugly fat and help regain slender more graceful curves, just return it for your money back. Note how quickly bloat disappears—how much better you feel. Insist on and be sure to get genuine Rennel.

'T Ain't So

By Inez Robb

NEW YORK

EARLY last February I set out from home, New York, that is, with a sample case in hand. For one reason or another, I have been on the road fairly continuously since, through the mid Midwest, the upper Midwest and the far, far ten-gallon, West.

I tore that case to the crossroads, the fork of the crick and to the cities. And wherever I went during this interim I kept my ear to the ground even when there was six feet of snow in Minneapolis—and my eyes open for the the great American war-monger.

Inez Robb

For the past ten months, the burden of at least fifty percent of the foreign correspondence printed in American publications, and whether written by American or European observers, has been the fact that Europe and Asia are scared stiff because we Americans—you and me and the guy across the street—can't wait to plunge into world War III.

BY THE TIME I took to the road last February, I was kind of scared myself. I hadn't met up with any American war-mongers in New York, but I figured maybe we New Yorkers were a sort of shiftless, peace-loving lot, seduced into wishy-washy, tranquil ways by our habitual low thinking and high living.

It stood to reason, or so it seemed to me, that if great minds like Aneurin Bevan, Jean Paul Sartre and Premier Nehru figured we were a trigger-happy nation it must be true.

Equipped with a bullet-proof vest and fortified by several fire extinguishers, always handy if a populace is spouting smoke and flames, I set out upon my journey into the presumably blood-thirsty interior.

Papers Urged To Go Easy On Newsprint

WASHINGTON May 10—(AP)—An 'aggressive' paper saving campaign to prevent the possible need for federal newsprint controls has been proposed by the National Production Authority.

And the newspaper industry advisory committee, which heard the proposal yesterday, agreed unanimously that this is "the most practical and effective" method of avoiding restrictions. The committee is made up of a score of publishers.

They were told that if domestic and Canadian production can be increased by about 6.5 percent consumption requirements can be met.

A vigorous conservation program could offset this deficit, the agency said. The publishers agreed one important step would be to limit the printing of excess copies, narrowing the gap between the gross run and the net paid circulation.

The committee undertook to set up a task group to recommend ways to take care of newspapers needing emergency supplies. NPA officials said such hardship cases have been few so far but they suggested procedure be worked out for use in case of full-scale war or other emergency.

The publishers were told that:

1. An amendment is being prepared to make it easier for newspapers to obtain maintenance repair and operating supplies by priority. Rubber rollers for presses will be covered by this amendment.

2. The shortage of sulphur will be the major factor affecting newsprint production but so far newsprint output has not been cut back by lack of the chemical.

3. NPA's proposed order requiring that "integrated mills"—those paper mills which produce their own pulp—set aside a reserve of pulp for emergency use by non-integrated mills probably will not affect newsprint production.

A State Department representative told the committee the government has tentative plans to help provide a minimum of newsprint for papers in friendly countries "particularly those in the shadow of Communist domination."

Ardrey Building Addition: Will House Body Shop

A new body repair shop is being constructed by the Ardrey Motor Sales, Inc., of 648 North Main street.

The addition is scheduled for completion about June 1. It will cost an estimated $6,000. L. B. Amrine and Sons are the general contractors.

Plans call for the building to be 50 by 48 feet and on one floor. The company plans to open a complete body repair and upholstery shop in the new addition.

Finds 5-Pound Mushrooms In Woods Near City

Robert Eby of 418 Cherry street feasted Tuesday on two five-pound red sponge mushrooms which he found in a woods near Marion. They were the largest mushrooms he has ever seen.

An amateur mushroom hunter of 30 years standing, Mr. Eby would not tell where he found the mushrooms or where he hunts for them. He is able to collect all he wants on his expeditions to wooded sections around Marion.

The red sponge variety of mushroom is very rare in this vicinity, Mr. Eby said. He has only seen them several times before in his life.

Mr. Eby is the manager of the Schulte Cigar store at Main and Center streets. The mushrooms were on display in his store Tuesday.

Russian General's Death Announced

MOSCOW, May 10—(AP)—The army newspaper Red Star announced today the death of Col. Gen. Justice Vasily Vasilevitch Ulrich, 62, who, it said, "devoted all his conscious life to the cause of the party of Lenin and Stalin."

(Ulrich is the man who presided at the celebrated blood purge trials in the mid-1930's, in which many Soviet military and party leaders were executed and thousands were deported in an alleged plot on the life of Stalin.)

Ulrich joined the Bolshevik party in 1910, took part in the Bolshevik revolution, and later "continuously occupied a series of responsible positions in the system of military tribunals," the Red Star obituary said. He was decorated many times with the highest of Soviet military orders.

Negroes are believed to have lived in Africa since 30,000 B.C.

Daylight Time Throws Canton Into Confusion

CANTON, O., May 10—(AP)—This city is being two-timed.

While most of Stark County and other major cities in the area have adopted Daylight Saving time, Canton has remained on Eastern Standard time.

The result is a tight little island of chronological confusion.

Probably the most confused are mothers of families living in fringe areas and nearby villages where fast time prevails. They send their children to school on Eastern Daylight time but papa treks to work in Canton on standard time.

It also works the other way around. In quite a few Canton families, the head of the house works at the Hoover Co plant in North Canton, or one of the many plants in Massillon. Both are on fast time. Rather than burden their wives with an extra hour of work before the kids get up, quite a few are preparing their own breakfasts.

Adding to the complications many residents of Massillon and other nearby places work in Canton. Those who arise, say at 7:30 a.m., get breakfast over and reach their jobs in some cases at 7:25. Quitting at 4 p.m., many arrive home to find the clocks in their communities say it's 5:30 already.

Several Canton plants have further complicated the picture by placing their office staffs on Daylight Saving time while keeping the production workers on Standard time.

Canton was left with its clocks an hour slow as a result of a vote taken last fall. It repealed an existing ordinance which provided for fast time during the summer period.

The vote was initiated by the CIO, with 24,382 voting for repeal of the ordinance and 19,575 favoring fast time.

The vote supported claims that the time shift worked hardship on early-rising industrial employes and caused parents difficulty in getting children to bed.

BIBLE CLASS MEETS

A meeting of the Ladies Bible Class of the First Evangelical and Reformed Church was held Tuesday afternoon at the church. Mrs. M. B. Hale presided and conducted devotions, reading from the third chapter of Matthew and offering prayer. Reports of sick and shut-in members were given and members responded to roll call with verses on "Mother." A song and the Lord's Prayer by the group closed the meeting. For the program, readings on mother were given by Mrs. R. H. Reidenbaugh and Mrs. Frank Detwiler. The next meeting of the class will be at the church.

Tag Day Sale Planned By Band Parents

A tag day sale for the benefit of the Harding High School band and orchestra will be held Friday and Saturday, under sponsorship of the Band and Orchestra Parents Association.

Members of the parents unit and the young people of the band and orchestra will be at various places in downtown Marion throughout both days to accept contributions.

Proceeds from the sale will be placed in the general fund of the groups, which is used to purchase music, instruments, or additions to uniforms. Also through this fund the Parents Association provides for bus trips which the band and orchestra takes to ball games or contests out of the city.

Small groups of the band also will be at various spots in the city to play Friday night to promote the sale.

Serving as chairman of the tag day sale is Raymond Donaugh. Headquarters will be in the courthouse.

W.C.T.U. UNIT MEETS

Members of the Florence Richards Union of the W.C.T.U. were entertained Tuesday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Lettie Coon on Pennsylvania avenue. Mrs. Leona Sanderson conducted devotions and offered prayer, reading scripture from the books of Mark and Matthew. A letter from the Save the Children Federation thanking the unit for a layette sent was read by Mrs. James Barkley. A card from the Home for Delinquent Girls in Japan thanking for material sent them also was read.

The program, in charge of Mrs. Barkley, included sketches read from a Washington letter, reading, "It's Mother," by Mrs. Ola Lauderback, and other readings, "Unawares," by Mrs. Virgil Curren, "Women in Christian Service" by Mrs George Keefer, and "W.C.T.U. Women" by Mrs. Sanderson. Members also gave reminiscences of their mothers. The W.C.T.U. benediction closed the meeting.

KADGAR GROTTO MEETS

Members of Kadgar Grotto joined others in the state at Mansfield Saturday night for a ceremonial and the dedication of the new Grotto temple. The trip was made in a chartered bus. A large class of candidates was initiated.

At a meeting of Kadgar Grotto Monday night in the grotto hall, plans were made to attend the national convention to be held at Cincinnati in June.

New methods of canning strained fruits and vegetables are expected to retain all the original flavors and nutrition.

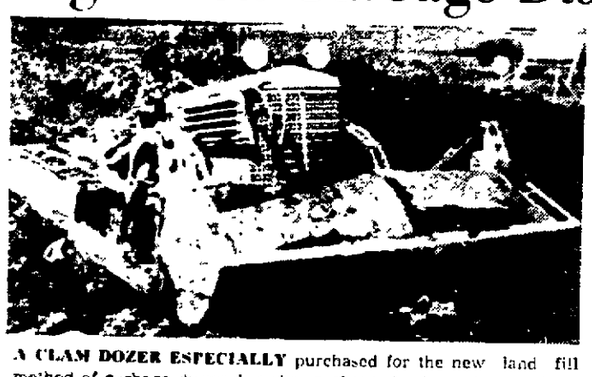
Clam Dozer Digs Trenches and Buries Refuse

Begin New Garbage Disposal System in Marion



A CLAM DOZER ESPECIALLY purchased for the new land fill method of garbage disposal is shown above digging a trench about 12 feet wide and four to five feet deep in which garbage and rubbish will be buried. Roy Gilbert of 483 Decatur street is the machine operator.

THE REFUSE IS PACKED down under the treads of the clam dozer. In this way no spaces are left for rats to live or flies to breed Witnessing the first test of the new machine were Mayor Harold F. Robinson, Safety Service Director Ralph Forrest, City Engineer Tom Cathers, and Foreman of the Sanitation Department, Charles Messenger.

TRUCKS DUMP GARBAGE AND rubbish together into the trench. By collecting, transporting and disposing of both forms of waste together, fewer truck and men are needed in the Sanitation Department. Surplus men were transferred to other departments.

FINAL STEP IN THE DISPOSAL OPERATION is covering the waste with a layer of earth, as pictured above. An estimated three acres of trenches a year will be needed to take care of Marion's needs.

By EMORY ANDERSON

The new land fill method of garbage and rubbish disposal began Monday on the former city hog farm west of Marion on Route 9.

In the new disposal system garbage and rubbish are buried in trenches, then covered [illegible]

[illegible] garbage was fed to hogs and then dumped about a mile on a plot of ground adjacent to the hog farm, which was operated by a private company. This method of disposal was considered unsanitary by city officials. Land to the land fill system was developed by the [illegible] during World War II.

UNDER THE NEW plan, trenches are dug by a $10,000 clam dozer recently purchased by the city. After the garbage and rubbish are dumped in, the dozer packs down the refuse, which is covered at the end of the day's operation by a four-foot layer of earth.

City and state health department officials report that flies and rats are kept at a minimum when this plan is followed.

Enough trenches are dug during the summer to provide for a year's operation. It takes about three acres of trenches a year to care for the city's needs.

On the first day of operation, a total of 40 loads of rubbish and garbage were dumped into the trench and mashed down and only eight feet of the trench was used, Mayor Robinson reported.

HE SAID THAT seven men were removed from the Sanitation Department and put on jobs repairing streets because of the more efficient operation of department since garbage and rubbish are being collected together. There is plenty of work in the city for these men, he said.

The 45 acre plot, purchased by the city some years ago to be used for the disposal of rubbish and garbage, should last the city about 15 years, city officials believe.

The present city dump has now been abandoned and will soon be leveled and buried, if possible, Mayor Robinson said.

Archduke Otto Of Hapsburg Wed To German Princess

NANCY, FRANCE, May 10—(AP)—Archduke Otto of Hapsburg pretender to the throne of the defunct Austro-Hungarian empire, wed a blue-eyed German princess here today in a lavish display of 18th Century pageantry.

Scores of Europe's throneless royalty thronged this eastern France city for the double rites uniting the 38-year-old Otto and 25-year-old Princess Regina of Saxony-Meiningen, whom he met while touring refugee camps in Bavaria.

A civil ceremony in the city hall was followed by impressive Roman Catholic rites an hour later in the Church of the Ropemakers, where many of the bridegroom's ancestors are buried.

Forbidden by Austrian law to visit the country where his father, the emperor Karl, was the last Hapsburg ruler, Otto came here for his wedding because it is the ancient capital of the once independent Duchy of Lorraine over which his ancestors reigned. Otto still claims the title of Duke of Lorraine.

A long day of ceremonies and receptions began with early private mass, attended by only a few relatives and friends of the couple.

After breakfast, some 600 guests, photographers and reporters packed the city hall for the civil ceremony—the only one recognized as binding by French law. The setting was the grand salon, overlooking the 18th Century square called Place Stanislas.

Columbus Man Convicted of 1st Degree Murder

COLUMBUS, O, May 10—(AP)—A Common Pleas Court jury deliberated for five and one-half hours last night and found 21-year-old William R. Russell guilty of the first degree murder of a lumber company official.

The jury recommended mercy, making life imprisonment mandatory.

William S. Grabow was beaten and robbed early the morning of last Dec. 1. He died 12 hours later in a hospital. Russell, who had been his chance drinking companion, was arrested later.

Defense counsel contended Grabow's death was due to alcohol he had consumed on top of effects of an anesthetic given at the hospital.

N. Y. Police Graft Called "Unbelievable"

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP)—"A picture of graft and corruption unbelievable."

This is how Assistant District Attorney Julius A. Helfand sums up the indictment of 21 past and present policemen accused of accepting millions of dollars from the head of a $20,000,000-a-year Brooklyn gambling ring.

Fifty-six other policemen or former policemen were named as co-conspirators in the alleged huge money graft when the Brooklyn rackets-probing grand jury's indictment was opened yesterday in Kings County court.

The nine-page document tells of police pay-offs by confessed boss bookie Harry Gross. From 1947 through 1949, it was charged, Gross handed over about $1,000,000 yearly to police.

Helfand said Gross even bought his way into the super rackets squad, set up to check on the honesty of other units within the police force.

This squad, Helfand said, "collected from the bookmakers money in bushel baskets."

The assistant DA added that both Brooklyn and Manhattan cops were on Gross' payoff list.

INJURED IN FALL

Pearl Bohnan, 69, of 142½ North Main street, sustained a laceration above his right eye when he fell while working at 4 a. m. as a janitor at the H. and H. Bar and Grill at 492 West Center street. Police said Bohnan apparently fainted while at his work. Harold Hall, manager, called police. Bohnan was taken to the Marion City Hospital in Gundle's ambulance where he was treated and released.

17 Hurt In Cincinnati Tavern Blast

CINCINNATI, May 10—(AP)—An explosion, apparently emanating from a women's rest room, ripped through a near-downtown tavern here last midnight and at least 17 persons were hurt — three seriously.

The cafe is at the edge of Cincinnati's west-end Negro district and first information was that all of the injured and burned were Negroes.

Nathan N. Burin and Joseph Brandes, the white co-owners, were not hurt but Burin said, "I grabbed something, I guess it was the bar because it seemed like I was about to be blown away."

They estimated there were between 75 and 100 persons in the tavern when the blast occurred.

Their only explanation for it was gas escaping into the women's rest room from upper floors.

One of the most seriously burned was Eula Mundy, 27, a Negro waitress. She was in the rest room. She and Mary Jane Green and Mary Martin, patrons were rushed to surgery after being taken to General Hospital.

The blast blew out all of the windows in the establisoment.

Plumbing in the women's rest room was wrecked. The walls were seared and blistered from the heat.

Walls in a small outer hall were bulged.

Coffee Flavors Tasty Desserts

CREAM PUFFS . . . Try 'em with coffee filling

By CECILY BROWNSTONE
Associated Press Food Editor

When you want to prepare a luscious coffee dessert that the whole family can enjoy, use caffein-free coffee. Coffee of this type now comes in instant form, so you can have it ready in a jiffy. And don't forget, now that warm weather's here, that it makes an unusually good iced beverage.

Bring on a wonderful coffee concoction for a grand finale at a buffet supper party on a weekend night—either for your own crowd or for a group of teenagers. For a simple menu you might start off with a fish-and-tomato chowder with lots of big pilot crackers. Go on to a salad made zippy with cheese, for the younger set use strips of mild American or Swiss cheese, for the oldsters crumble in Roquefort with its distinctive flavor. Accompany the salad with hot brown and serve rolls. Then finish up with these cream puffs made de luxe by their coffee filling and coffee sauce.

CREAM PUFFS WITH COFFEE CREAM FILLING

Cream Puffs . . . To 1 cup of boiling water add ½ cup of homogenized shortening and bring to a boil in a saucepan. All at once, add 1 cup of sifted all-purpose flour and ¼ teaspoon salt. Stir and mix well until mixture is smooth and comes away from the sides of pan. Remove from heat. Add 4 eggs, one at a time, beating well after each addition until mixture is smooth. Drop about 2 inches apart on greased baking sheet. Bake in very hot (450 F) oven for 10 minutes. Reduce heat to 400 degrees and bake about 25 minutes longer.

Ingredients: One 3¼-ounce package prepared vanilla pudding, 1 tablespoon instant caffein-free coffee, 1½ cups milk, ½ cup cream, 12 large cream puffs.

Method: Mix vanilla pudding and instant caffein-free coffee in saucepan. Add milk gradually, blending well. Cook over moderate heat, stirring constantly, until mixture comes to a boil and thickens. Cool, stirring occasionally. Whip cream and fold in. Fill cream puffs and serve with Special Coffee Sauce.

SPECIAL COFFEE SAUCE

Ingredients: 2 tablespoons instant caffein-free coffee, 1 tablespoon flour, dash of salt, 1 cup light corn syrup, ¾ cup light cream, 2 tablespoons butter.

Method: Mix coffee, flour, and salt in saucepan. Add corn syrup gradually, stirring constantly. Add cream and butter; simmer 5 minutes or until thickened, stirring constantly. Cool. Serve over cream puffs.

Both Drivers Injured When Autos Sideswipe

Both drivers were injured in an accident reported today by the Marion substation of the State Highway Patrol.

Alfred A. Kent, 66, of near Sycamore suffered a bruised leg and right wrist and Gladys Winninger, 47, of near Sycamore suffered a bruised back, head and neck when their cars sideswiped just north of Sycamore on Route 231 at 8:25 a.m. yesterday.

Arraigned today before Justice of the Peace L. C. Schoenberger at Upper Sandusky, Kent pleaded guilty and was fined $10 and costs.

William H. Trafzer, 21, of 489 McKinley street today received a suspended sentence of $15 and costs after pleading guilty in Municipal Court to the charge of failing to yield the right-of-way at Route 98 and 529 on May 5. Trafzer's car was struck by a truck at the intersection. He, his wife and the truck driver were all injured.

TRIP TO THE MOON. Several years ago someone suggested that college athletes should draw salaries the same as those in the professional ranks. The suggestion was met with the same reaction as one who attempts to buy a two-way ticket to the moon. The new wrinkle on college athletics was soon written off as just another crackpot sounding off.

So today we read of high school athletes in Ohio who take plane trips to the University of Georgia, workout in full uniform before the appraising eyes of coaches and then return home to ponder whether to go to the Cracker state or to accept offers from other universities.

One of the most encouraging remarks we have heard on the subject came from Gene Patton, St. Marys outstanding athlete. Questioned on where he was going to school next fall, Gene replied, "I hope to go to the University of Dayton—they have a good school of electrical engineering."

Although the south will probably go out for the basketball team, [illegible] was the [illegible] statements in these days of free rides for athletic scholarships.

Meet the Marsox

Carmine Vinci

Carmine "Pepper" Vinci, 19-year-old Brooklyn native, is the Marsox shortstop this season. The 6-foot 160-pound shortstop covers the left side of the infield like a blanket.

Pepper who has played baseball in several amateur and semi-pro leagues in his native Brooklyn is one of the most promising youngsters on the local roster. He got his start in the game with the Kingspark Club in Brooklyn where he played for three months. During that stint he belted the ball at a 400 clip and was charged with only one error. Last year he played in the Brooklyn Amateur Foundation at Ebbets Field and also in the Parade Grounds League. He was picked as the best shortstop in that league last year after finishing with a .328 batting mark.

During the off season Pepper works in his fathers bakery shop and takes part in football, basketball and track. He lists his most humorous experience in baseball as hitting an umpire in the stomach with a line drive after he had called two bad ones. The unmarried infielder says the biggest thrill in the game was "of course when I signed with the Boston Red Sox."

Marsox Move to Richmond After Lima Loss

Phils Score First Win At Home, 6-4

Special to The Star

LIMA, O., May 10—Marion's Red Sox outhit Lima, but wound up on the short end of a 6-4 score at Phillies Park last night. It was the first win at home this season for the Lima team.

Tonight the Marsox move over to Richmond for a doubleheader before returning here for a single game Saturday and two Sunday. The games Sunday will be a split twinbill with the first game starting at 2 p. m. and the second at 7:45 p. m. Separate admissions will be charged.

Righthander Bob Penny went the distance for the Red Sox allowing eight hits and fanning 10 Phillies. But the home nine bunched their hits when they were needed. In the field Lima pulled off four double plays to crush the visitors' hopes.

Marion scored first in the second inning when Jack Andrews walked, advanced to second on a wild pitch and was sent home by Dick Klingman's single.

Take Lead

Lima went ahead in its half with two runs coming in the wake of four safeties off Penny. The Red Sox then took the lead in the fifth with two runs on doubles by Penny and Ed Brodowski and a single by Marv Stendel. The final tally came in the sixth as Klingman walked, stole second and scored on another base hit by Penny.

Held without a hit from the second inning, Lima put three runs across in the seventh on a walk, a sacrifice a fielder's choice during which Marion shortstop Pepper Vinci heaved a wild one and a triple by Centerfielder Rolly Hammett. The Phillies scored their sixth run in the eighth frame. Double plays by the Limamen in the eighth and ninth innings staved off further Red Sox threats.

The victory went to Lima southpaw, Ed Sandy who took his turn on the mound for the first time since he inked a contract two days ago.

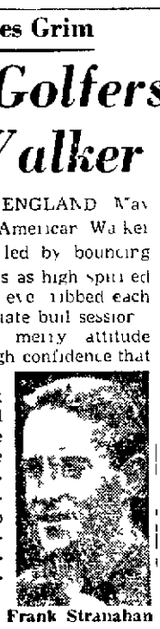
British Forces Grim

U. S. Golfers Confident For Walker Cup Play

BIRKDALE, ENGLAND, May 10—(AP)—The American Walker Cup golf team led by bouncing Willie Turnesa, was high spirited bunch of lads as ever dubbed each other in a collegiate bull session.

Through their merry attitude there spreads high confidence that they will carry the cup back to the United States for the 12th time. The matches start tomorrow. Possession of the cup symbolizes international supremacy in amateur team golf.



Frank Stranahan

The British who have won only once are grim this year. There is a persistent belief that Britain has its strongest team since it scored its lone victory in 1938 and a sort of natural forlorn optimism that somehow the British might win again.

To further their chance on narrow fairways and rockhard greens, the British have brought in two bigtime pros, Percy Cotton and Dai Rees, to coach their players.

Turnesa, the American captain, settled last night on the teams he will send out Friday morning in four scotch foursome matches.

Willie, himself, will be the partner of Sam Urzetta, the U. S. amateur champion of Rochester, N. Y.

Charlie Coe of Oklahoma City is linked with Big Jim McHale of Philadelphia.

Frank Stranahan of Toledo, the British Amateur champion will be the partner of strapping Bill Campbell of Huntington, W. Va.

The fourth American twosome combines 40-year-old Dick Chapman of Pinehurst, N. C. with Bob Knowles of Boston.

The odd man on the American team is Harold Paddock Jr., of Cleveland. Although he won't play in the foursomes he is almost sure to play in one of Saturday's eight singles matches.

Suggest Plan To Televise 2nd Half Of Grid Games

DETROIT, May 10—(AP)—An adopted form of football telecasting—second half only—was disclosed today as a proferred solution to college football's TV problem.

The idea originating with Detroit's WWJ and WWJ-TV is under study of representatives of the National Collegiate Athletic Association.

It was said that the Big Ten might ask the NCAA's approval for an experiment with the proposal this fall.

The Detroit group set forth the proposal as a compromise in the interests of both football stadium attendance and TV's own investment.

Harry Bannister, general manager of WWJ, and Willard Walbridge, WWJ-TV manager, conceived the plan. It was presented at the recent Big Ten meeting in Chicago.

Walbridge said the "second half plan" would act to deter the fans acceptance of television as a substitute for the game itself.

"It can only serve to whet the appetite to see the whole game with its attendant crowd and color," he said.

Favor Bold In Preakness

NEW YORK, May 10—(UP)—Brookeade Stable's Bold—a lightly-campaigned colt with speed to burn—bursts onto the racing scene today as a leading contender for next week's Preakness.

Kept under wraps while most of the three-year-olds were battling it out in the Kentucky Derby, Bold finally made his first start of the year yesterday at the six furlong Jacobus purse at Pimlico. He won by 12 lengths after leading every step of the way.

Jimmy Lynch enjoyed a "rocking chair" ride aboard the stable's stepping son of By Jimminy. The brown colt appeared full of run as he turned a mile-and-a-sixteenth in 1:45 flat while lugging 110 pounds.

Off his sensational gallop in yesterday's first start of the year, Bold must be regarded as one of the horses to beat in the $75,000 Derby. Bold finally made his first Preakness which will be held over the same Pimlico course May 19.

Yanks Blast Lemon For 9-2 Victory

By JACK HAND
Associated Press Sports Writer

As long as Cleveland is in the American League, Eddie Lopat has a steady job. Since June 17, 1949, the chunky New York Yankee lefty is 10-0 against the Tribe.

With a lifetime 29-6 edge over the Cleveland gang, Lopat is money in the bank for Manager Casey Stengel. How can Cleveland put on a drive when Casey has Lopat?

Eddie's poison was almost as deadly when he pitched for Chicago. But once he switched to New York he became a sure shot against the Indians. And now he's beating them to death with a bat too.

Favorite Series

It's a rare Cleveland series that doesn't find Lopat pitching the key games for the Yanks. He beat them six times last year as well as the last three times he faced them in '49.

They criticized "Old Case" last summer when he used Lopat and Tommy Byrne as pinch hitters against this very same Cleveland team. But last night Lopat proved his batting power once more. He hit a three-run homer and drove in five Yankee runs in their 9-2 triumph.

Lopat now tops both majors with a perfect 5-0 record for the year although his string of 32 innings without an earned run was snapped. Loser Bob Lemon was knocked out in the sixth.

It was the Yanks seventh win in nine starts on their first Western trip. They stretched their first place margin to two full games and left the Indians in third.

The Yanks victory probably was he most important of yesterday's action but the New York Giants 17-3 romp over the makeshift St. Louis Cards started more tongues wagging. Leo Durocher's crew now has won eight of its last 10 starts.

Loosen Shackles

Throwing off the shackles of their horrendous slump, the Giants have climbed out of the cellar. With eight Cards bedded down by flu, the Giant sluggers ripped into Max Lanier and three "savers" for 21 hits. The hit and run totals tied the season high in both leagues.

Ray Noble, husky Cuban pitcher, hit two home runs and two singles in the big push.

Sal Maglie curve-balled his way to his third straight win with a five-hitter.

In the upper brackets of the National, the Boston Braves took advantage of the Card collapse to widen their lead to two games. Vern Bickford allowed only two Cincinnati singles in winning his fifth straight, 4-0. It was the Braves sixth shutout job in 24 games.

Jim Konstanty picked up his first win after three defeats as the Philadelphia Phils took a 10-inning game from Pittsburgh, 6-5.

Konstanty rescued Russ Meyer in the ninth, forcing Gus Bell and Ralph Kiner to ground out. Then he blanked them in the 10th while the Phils got to reliefer Joe Muir for a run.

Big Run

Eddie Pellagrini's single with two out drove in Eddie Waitkus with the big run.

Clyde King tamed the Chicago Cubs for a 5-4 Brooklyn victory. A timely double by Cal Abrams scored two runs to break a 2-2 tie in the sixth.

The American Leagues got notice to expect the worst from Hal Newhouser from now on as the Detroit lefty shut out Washington, 4-0, with seven hits. After three wobbly starts, the veteran ace has pitched two fine games in succession.

The Philadelphia A's scored six in the 10th to drub the St. Louis Browns, 8-2, after tying the game on Eddie Joost's homer in the ninth.

The Boston at Chicago night game was rained out.

Clash For District Title

Special to The Star

GALION, May 10—The Galion High School Tigers will meet Mansfield's Tygers at Eastside Park here Friday night at 8 p.m. for the District Class A baseball title.

Both teams advanced to the finals with wins yesterday. The locals pounded out a 7-4 win over Ashland High School while Mansfield downed Shelby, 7-5. Bill Rhinehart was on the mound for Galion and Ken McMangell and Robb Corry blasted home runs.

The winner of the Friday night game will advance to the regional tourney. Galion, last year, was runner-up for the state baseball crown. They were defeated in the championship game.

Lopez Shifts Lineup For Yank Series

CLEVELAND, May 10—(AP)—Disturbed at the way New York's Yankees walloped his Cleveland Indians last night, Manager Al Lopez has decided to gamble on a lineup shuffle today in the finale of the two-game series.

The change sends George (Birdie) Tebbetts behind the plate, Bob Kennedy into right field and George (Snuffy) Stirnweiss to second base. They replace Jim Hegan, Allie Clark and Bob Avila, in that order.

Avila and Hegan have been regulars all season. Clark, however, made his starting debut in the second game of Sunday's double header against Washington.

"Just trying to shake the team up," Lopez explained. "I want to try another combination to see how it works."

Post Office Winner, 1-0, In Opener

Bud England of General-Alloy hurled a no-hit game last night at Garfield Park, in the Industrial No. 2 League, but lost the game, 1-0.

The hurler's brother, Bob England, scored the winning run for the Post Office after reaching third on a three-base error.

England's mound opponent, Lee Kirby, was almost as effective on the hill as he shut out the General-Alloy crew on only two base hits. England posted 13 strike outs in his no-hit loss. England's brother, Bob, pulled up at third in the third frame after the three base miscue and raced across the plate later on a fly ball to right-field.

Monsanto Chemical blasted Marion Metal, 15-7, in their season opener. The Monsanto crew went through the 1950 season without a win as they dropped 14 straight games. The winners batted around in a big second inning as seven runs crossed the plate.

Fairfield Engineering posted nine runs in the first three innings of their tilt with Jay Maish, to win, 9-2. Jay Maish scored two in the fourth on three walks and a double by Don Williams. Gilbert, Maish hurler, settled down and blanked the winners over the final four frames.

Sohio came from behind in the final two innings to defeat McMillen Feed, 9-5.

TV Proving Crisis Because Of Small Crowds

By HUGH FULLERTON, JR.

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP)—[illegible] night used to be the big one, he now finds he's getting the biggest crowds on Fridays . . . reason: there are a lot of first-class non-sports shows on the video screens Saturday night. . Leo weathered a similar 'crisis' when he was in the theater business and had to 'pipe' popular radio shows into his houses in order to get people to watch movies . . . and he figures any promoter with enough dough in reserve can survive until folks get tired of sitting and staring at home and want to return to the arenas and ball parks . . This process would be hastened by the rise of new stars—A Mickey Mantle, say, or an exciting heavyweight like young Joe Louis was . . . So Seltzer plans to operate a big training school in Chicago this summer to develop new skating stars.

John Kobs, Michigan State baseball coach, won't admit any of the boys who play for him now figured in this incident . . Kobs' team was working on a play to catch a runner trying to steal second . . twice in succession the pitcher apparently missed the signal and cut off the catcher's throw while the runners galloped gleefully around the bases . . the second time Kobs enraged from the dugout hollering "Didn't you get the signal?" . . "Sure" replied the pitcher, it was a curve ball."

When Wally Pipp, star of the early 1920's visited the Yankees bench the other day, some meanie wisecracked "Now we have four first basemen—all the same age."

. An American Association follower asks, "If the Toledo battery of Bill Hoett and Frank House isn't the most expensive in history, which is?" . . . The American Hockey League's "most gentlemanly player" award is voted by the referees, who ought to know. Jerry Reid of Indianapolis gets it this year . . . Capt. Ian C. Eddy, new director of Athletics at the Naval Academy, was a guard on Navy's 1929 football team . . . Observers in the southwest tab the Arizona State (Tempe) track team as being good enough to outscore all the other schools together in the border Conference meet this week-end . . . Bill Miller who can toss the javelin 224 feet and high jump 6-5 (an unusual combination) is the Tempe star.

Ge' Woody Hayes, the Ohio State grid coach, to tell you some time about "Box Car" Bailey at Miami U. He's a 204-pound fullback and a sprinter . . . the North and South high school basketball squads which will tangle at Murray, Ky., June 16, each will have a six-foot-nine, 250 pound center. They're Bill Simonovich of Gilbert, Minn., and Don Dalton of Altus, Okla.—and just wait until they grow up . . . when Joe Kennelly's home run won a ball game for George Washington U., teammate Bino Barreira jumped off the bench and knocked himself out by hitting his head on the dugout roof. Quit a trick for a guy who is only five-feet-five.

Reds Unable To Combine Hits, Pitching

BOSTON, Mass., May 10—(AP)—The Cincinnati Reds just don't seem to be able to add one to one.

The first "one" of course is pitching. The other is hitting.

The Reds can't seem to put them together.

If they're ever able to learn that first grade arithmetic problem maybe they'll start digging themselves out of the National League's basement.

Through the earlier weeks of the season Cincinnati was getting some rather lusty slugging — an item that wasn't too much expected. But the pitchers couldn't get anyone out.

In two games against the Boston Braves, the Redleg hurlers—Herman Wehmeier, Howard Fox and Harry Perkowski—have allowed a total of only 12 hits and six runs.

But where are the Cincinnati hitters?

They must have gone to lunch

Only One Run

In those same two games the Reds have mustered only eight hits and one run.

The rsult, of course, is obvious Cincinnati has lost both contests, the latest one being last night's 1 to 0 shutout. They'll try again today to put that one and one together. Either Ewell Blackwell or Kenny Raffensberger will try to provide the pitching item.

Ted Kluszewski, touted to be the big gun in the Cincinnati attack this year but little more than a blank thus far, had one of his worst games last night. He popped up three times and struck out to end the game.

Vern Bickford held the Reds to two hits last night. Only four Redlegs got to first and none got beyond there.

A wild pitch and a passed ball helped the Braves to two runs in the second inning. A pair of doubles gave them another tally in the seventh and then Earl Torgeson got a home run off Perkowski in the eighth.

the questioning would be extensive.

Fulbright said it may take three days to complete the questioning he and other members of his subcommittee have prepared for Dawson. Dawson is President Truman's personnel (political patronage) adviser.

In his prepared statement, Dawson said:

"It is true that I am well acquainted with the directors of the RFC, as I am with many other officials of government agencies.

"It is also true that I have at no time ever attempted to 'dominate' or 'influence' any of them."

"On occasion I have referred persons or inquiries regarding loans to the RFC," Dawson testified. "I have merely presented the matter and have not urged or requested action one way or the other."

"With the committee's consent," Dawson said, "I should like to comment, statement by statement, on each reference to me in your report in the light of the subsequent record developed by your subcommittee and in the light of my knowledge of the facts."

The subcommittee in a report to the Senate had described the President's adviser as a member of a clique "who appear to have exercised influence over the RFC." It charged specifically that former RFC Directors Walter L. Dunham and William E. Willett were subservient to him.

Mr. Truman called the report "asinine."

Denies Hotel Deal

Dawson told the senators he "had nothing whatever to do" with a $1,500,000 RFC loan to the Saxony Hotel in Miami Beach, Fla., a costly play-spot for the wealthy.

He said he hoped that statement would receive as much publicity as was given to testimony that on three occasions "he stayed without charge in a $30-a-day room at the hotel.

"I have never asked the RFC to take any action on any matter relating to the Saxony Hotel,' he said. "As a matter of fact, until the newspaper publicity incident to your investigation of the Saxony loan in March or April of this year, I cannot recall ever having heard that the Saxony had any loans or any other government business.

"I understand that it is a common practice of hotels in Miami to extend the kind of courtesies that were extended to me," he continued. "In fact, I understand that the owner of this same hotel testified before your subcommittee that the hotel has extended such courtesies to many people, both in private and government life, including members of the Senate."

Owner Testified

George Sax, the hotel's owner, has testified a number of House and Senate members also stayed at his hotel, without charge, but the subcommittee did not ask their names on grounds there was nothing to indicate their visits had anything to do with RFC affairs.

Committee Reports

Reports of chairmen and committees were given at the board meeting which preceded the annual meeting.

Announcement was made of the appointment of Dan Reid as first aid chairman. He reported two classes organized during April and an advance class being organized.

Richard Probst, who served as chairman for the 1951 Red Cross Fund campaign, announced that while the goal had not been reached the campaign had been quite successful with more than 94 percent of the quota being reached. He expressed his appreciation of the committee and workers for their work.

Charlton Myers, recruitment chairman, announced the next meeting of the Bloodmobile would be May 24 and 25. The need for blood donors was stressed

The need for volunteers in the Red Cross volunteer service was emphasized by Mrs. W. A. Dennis, social welfare aid chairman.

Creamed Eggs and Asparagus a Tasty Dish

DON'T let a budget get in the way of serving good meals—meals that have look-appeal without and taste-appeal within. This one, for instance, features two foods plentiful and inexpensive at this time of the year—eggs and asparagus.

It's a boon, too to the cook who finds time at a premium. For days when prices make the outlook drab and lack of time makes it even gloomier, it's a bright way to bring sun to the kitchen.

EGGS AND ASPARAGUS

2 cans condensed cream of mushroom soup
½ can water
1 bunch fresh asparagus
8 rusk or slices of toast
4 hard-cooked eggs

Family Night Observed By Church Society

Families of the members were guests when a special "family night" observance was held by the Ladies Aid and Missionary Society of St. Paul's Lutheran Church in Richland Township Sunday night in the church parish house. Nearly 70 persons were present.

Theme of the affair was an India women's work meeting, with a special offering taken for this purpose and a program in keeping with the theme presented.

A song by the group opened the meeting and scripture and prayer were given by Mrs. Alfred Laucher. A welcome to the guests was extended by Mrs. Howard Schwaderer, a poem was read by Miss Eileen Foos, and a recitation was given by Johnny Knickle. A dialogue on the program theme was given by seven girls, Bonnie Trout, Carol Trout, Peggy Fetter, Carold Laucher, Janet Laucher, Vickie Knickle and Nancy Knickle.

A number was given by a vocal trio, composed of Jerry Fetter, Marilyn Mack and Delores Hough, Mrs. William Miller gave a talk on India women's work, a prayer poem was given by Miss Elizabeth Foos and the Lord's Prayer was given by the group.

To close the program, Dale Hartpence of the Farm Bureau Co-operative Association, showed several films. The offering taken for the India women's work totaled $46.

Life membership pins and certificates were presented to two members by Mrs. Raymond Seas. Receiving the pins were Mrs. Ralph Hough and Mrs. James Severns.

Serving as hostesses for the evening were Mrs. Albert Yeager, Mrs. George Yeager and Mrs. Howard Schwaderer. The next meeting will be with Mrs. Raymond Seas on Wallace steert.

Plan To Use Trucks For Parcel Post

COLUMBUS, O., May 9—(AP)—Cities and towns within 200 miles of Columbus will be getting parcel post from Columbus via post office trucks early this summer.

Postmaster Allen M. Rowe yesterday announced the plan to replace the old railroad star routes with motor trucks.

There will be runs to Newark, Coshocton, Dennison, Steubenville, Dayton, Cincinnati, Toledo, Portsmouth, Zanesville, Troy, Toledo and Cincinnati. Rowe said the trucks, which will start out from Columbus, will stop at cities along the way.

One reason for the service, he said, is to guard against a possible rail rate increase for parcel post. Railroads have asked the rates be doubled and would add a handling charge, he said.

Word of the proposed truck routes has not yet been received by Marion Postmaster Homer Cole. Mr. Cole said he had collected data for similar truck routes proposed from other cities but that he has had nothing official on the routes as yet.

Love Triumphant

By ADELE GARRISON

"As you were," I told my laughing son and my nephews, as I went past them to open the door to Mr. Olsen, manager of the Lansfield, whom my father had summoned to finish the conference with him which Fatta had interrupted.

The boys stifled their mirth, and sat erect in their chairs, while Dicky, with poker face and mien followed me to the door, and spoke quickly when I had greeted Mr. Olsen.

"If you'll just come with me, Mr. Olsen,' he said, "I'll take you to Mr. Spencer."

"Just a second," I said, and both my husband and the hotel manager looked at me in surprise, but I went on swiftly as if I had not seen their glances.

"Dicky, will you please ask Father to call me down to the other room before Mr. Olsen goes away?" I said. "There are some questions I wish to ask him, and, of course, I wish Father to hear them."

"Can do," Dicky said, and then he and Mr. Olsen went out of the living room into the hall leading down to Dicky's bedroom.

When they were safely out of hearing, Hank looked over at me with mischief in his eyes.

"Wanna bet, Aunt Madge, that I can't 'de-dooce' allee samee Katie, why you want to see Mr. Olsen?"

I gave him an indulgent smile.

"I know better than to bet with you, Hank," I said "But tell me what you have 'de-dooced.'"

"Well," he said, "the biggest thing that's worrying you, is how to get meals sent up without room service guessing about them. Now, I know from having been here before, that Uncle Phil Veritzen has a nice kitchen in his suite, complete with electric range n' everything. I 'de-dooce'" and he struck a pose which would have done credit to a television announcer, "that you are planning to use that kitchen up there, and cut out room service, except on extra occasions when you can stall as you're going to do today."

I rose and curtsied low.

"Take a bow, also a medal," I said "You have guessed my intention accurately."

"Smarty!" his younger brother, Roderick, said, with a cleverly aped snarl in his voice. Then he turned to me, reproachfully.

"Why did you hand him that bit o' salve, Aunt Madge?" he asked. 'There won't be any living with him up at college.'

"I'm not worrying,' I told him, laughing 'I think the other three of you will be able to reduce him to size if he needs it. But I really am impressed with your 'de-dooding,'" I said turning back to Hank. "You hit it exactly. I hope only that my father approves."

"Why wouldn't he?" Hank asked a bit belligerently. "It's a swell idea. He ought to be thankful to you for thinking of it."

His boyish championship was so heated, and so sincere that it "warmed the cockles of my heart."

"That is very nice of you, Hank," I said, and Junior spoke quickly

"You know the other three of us agree with Hank, period.' he said "The way Granddad says, you always come up with the right answer."

My heart was in my throat, as any mother can understand, when I heard that tribute, and saw the look in my young son's eyes which accompanied it.

"Thank you, darling," I said, a bit huskily, then added briskly:

"But, if you will excuse me, I must go and see Aunt Katharine and Granzie about my brain storm. They may not agree about the kitchen."

Your Good Health

By DR. HERMAN N. BUNDESEN

Faddish Reducing Diet Hazards

There is no doubt about the importance of avoiding overweight because the piling up of excess fat on the body does constitute a definite health hazard. On the other hand, attempts to reduce, "all at once," often carry with them their own dangers, particularly if they are continued so long as to bring the individual to a state bordering on starvation.

The body must have food, not only to sustain life but to perform its functions efficiently and to generate the energy needed for living. Recent studies clearly illustrate what may happen when a person, ignorant of the body's basic needs, sets out too enthusiastically on a faddish reducing program.

Thirty-two persons volunteered for these experiments in semi-starvation. After a period of three months, during which they had a completely adequate diet containing the necessary amounts of proteins, vitamins, and minerals, they were placed on meager fare for six months. This diet contained potatoes, cabbage, turnips, and cereals, with an extremely limited amount of animal proteins, such as in milk, meat, and eggs. It resembled that which was used in famine times in northern parts of Europe. The diet contained only half of the riboflavin, vitamin B-complex, and vitamin A usually recommended.

At the end of a six-month period, all of the dieters had lost about one-fourth of their body weight. All developed symptoms of starvation, such as the accumulation of fluid in the tissues, anemia or lessening of color in the blood, slow heart beat, weakness, and depression. During the period of starvation, the body used up some of its own proteins for fuel material. Body fat, muscle, liver and skin are sources from which tissues are used to supply energy. The heart also undergoes loss in weight during continued starvation. However, to protect the heart, its rate slows down during starvation so that the work done by the heart decreases to about half.

It can be seen that rigid dieting, even after a short period of time, may contain some element of danger, and that serious harm can result from prolonged rigid dieting. It is important to reduce, but it is equally necessary that it be done safely under the direction of a physician.

$135 Worth of Baseball Gloves Stolen in Galion

GALION May 9—Somebody in Galion has enough baseball gloves to outfit several teams but they probably aren't telling anybody about it.

Two large cardboard boxes containing $135 worth of new baseball gloves were stolen from the rear of the Thompson Hardware store in Galion yesterday. Store manager Francis Schalip reported the theft to police.

The gloves apparently were taken during store hours while the employes were busy with customers, Schalip told police.

Those Poor Russians

THE strategists in the Kremlin must wish sometimes they had nothing more baffling than an "iron curtain" to deal with. They have the confusion of American free speech to try to figure out—and that's beyond their understanding.

When Gen. MacArthur was relieved of his command in Tokyo and started home immediately, the issue was whether or not he had done anything wrong by making statements embarrassing to his government. That issue scarcely has been touched upon since his arrival. The General, himself, turned it aside in the congressional hearing with a pulling reply which seemed to defend the right of any military officer to carry a disagreement with his superior into the court of public opinion at any time.

If this sidetracking of the original issue has not confused the poor Russians, consider their plight in the issue that has replaced the original issue.

This is whether or not a war in Korea which everybody agrees cannot be won without making it a bigger war than it has been so far could be brought to a quick conclusion by making it bigger. Gen. MacArthur, who wants it made bigger, though not too much bigger, says the outcome of doing so is problematic. That, of course, is the built-in weakness of the government's present policy. Its outcome is problematic, too.

Americans like decisive action and clear-cut results That is why Gen. MacArthur found a vast and enthusiastic audience for his point of view when he came home. Millions of Americans were sick to death of the war in Korea. They wanted to believe the General was coming home with a key to unlock the problem of how to score a quick and permanent knockout. It may be assumed the strategists in the Kremlin were waiting with bated breath to find out what was going to happen to their satellites and, indirectly, to them.

They never found out. All they are getting from the United States is a free-for-all discussion. It must be the most maddening obstacle a Kremlinite ever encounters—freedom of speech.

On the Border

IT WAS plain for a few hours while U.N. planes were wrecking that buildup of Red air power on the Korea-Manchuria border Wednesday that the question of whether or not to carry the war into Manchuria probably will be answered by the Russians before it can be answered by the United Nations and the United States.

If that buildup of air power had not been discovered and if those Red planes had been turned loose on the U.N. forces in South Korea, the quid-pro-quo balance would have been upset There would have been a flagrant violation of the "sanctuary" enjoyed by the U.N.

If that happened, the "sanctuary" enjoyed by the Reds in Manchuria would be on the way out. If submarine warfare and bombing raids on Japan were added to all-out aerial warfare, the United Nations could no longer wage restricted warfare.

That was a narrow squeak when the buildup of Red air power on the Korean side of the Yalu was discovered and wrecked. The Yalu is not a wide river.

This Fight Is Fixed

THERE is a fight in Washington over continuation of price control. Because economic controls of this kind are related closely to the growth of statism, this might be called the fight of the second half of the century.

But the fight is fixed. Its outcome will not be affected by the blows struck. Price control is not going to be licked by anything which happens in Washington Politically, it is a shoo-in. Congress would not dare to abandon the principle

Economically, price control is a snare and a delusion. Even the politicians who defend it know that it works only indifferently at best and always does more damage than it does good in the long run They continue to defend it only because of the votes which they believe can be garnered by pretending to do something that cannot in fact, be done.

The United States is only an apprentice in price control. The experts are the authoritarian countries like the Soviet Union and, to a lesser degree, Britain But even the experts know it can't be done. Economic laws cannot be made to yield to arbitrary regulation.

Question of Loyalty

By David Lawrence

Should Military Heads Favor Party in Power?

WASHINGTON

SECRETARY OF DEFENSE GEORGE MARSHALL has enunciated in his testimony before the Senate armed services committee the astounding doctrine that the minority party in Congress is not entitled to full and truthful answers from officers in the armed services and that, in answering letters of inquiry, officers must be guided by their first loyalty to the Democratic Administration, which he calls the "constituted authority."

LAWRENCE

Under such circumstances, it seems improbable that any testimony from the Joint Chiefs of Staff or any other military officers hereafter could contain a single word of information which could possibly reflect upon the Democratic administration

Senator Bridges of New Hampshire, Republican, endeavored to pin Secretary Marshall down to whether an officer's first loyalty is to his country or to the Administration in power, and the secretary insisted that the only way an officer could express himself when he felt the interests of his country were at stake was to resign from the military service. A man must sacrifice his career if he wants to tell his views to members of Congress. This will not be good news to men in the fighting services who thought that party politics was not to be considered in relations with their government—and who had been taught to consider Congress a civilian branch of the government coordinate with the executive branch.

MORE SIGNIFICANT, however, in Mr. Marshall's testimony was his revelation of what critics in Congress already are saying is the Administration's "appeasement" plan in the Far East. The secretary stated that the "unification of North and South Korea has been set up as a political rather than a military objective of the U. N."

The same phrasing was used by Secretary of State Acheson in a speech a few days ago to the Chamber of Commerce of the United States and, by instruction of the Department of State, the same wording was also uttered recently in an address by Warren Austin, American ambassador to the U. N.

It means that, while the United States government will continue to oppose recognition of Red China and also the turning over of Formosa to Red China, the other members of the U. N. will have to decide the issue. The United States government, through Secretary Acheson, has already made it clear that no veto power will be used and that America will abide by what the majority of other members of the United Nations wish to do. If they want to reward the aggressor and erase the sacrifices of American troops in Korea, the United States will accept the "appeasement."

THIS MEANS THAT the 38th parallel may again be the boundary between North and South Korea and that the U. N. will try by diplomacy to get "unification" but that, if Russia and China refuse to accept it, then, assuming a "cease fire" has occurred, the fighting will not be resumed. This is because the U. N. feels it is not committed to accomplish the objectives in Korea by military means.

The Marshall testimony has produced a wave of questioning and criticism in the Senate committee. He will be on the stand for several days. He has not yet satisfactorily explained how the Administration intends to end the war in Korea or why it now sets up the bogey fear of Russian intervention in the war when it had no such fear last June at the time the orders went to General MacArthur to land forces in Korea.

President Truman, on the other hand, has through his latest speech, notified Russia that America is so afraid of having its cities bombed that it will not take maximum steps to stop the aggression in the Far East. Mr. Truman says that, if the United States were to widen the conflict in Asia, "we might well have to go it alone."

Yet that's what has been happening, in effect, since last June. The United States alone—outside of the South Koreans—has been supplying virtually all the troops The U. N. has refused to send reinforcements. The principal U.N. members have only token representation on the firing line. Instead of winning allies, America has, as a practical matter, been deserted already by its allies with respect to Korea.

* * *

THE PRESIDENT'S speech might be construed to mean that he has lost faith in the willingness of our allies to support our troops in the Far East. As a consequence, the question of withdrawing American troops from Korea is bound to be raised. For, as one Senator said, it doesn't help to point out how many Red Chinese are being killed—what's important is how many American boys are being killed or wounded while the so-called "war of attrition" drags on.

Where the Ivy Twines

By TRUMAN TWILL

THIS is the time of year when old grads and former students get an itch to go back where the ivy doth twine and the stars do shine.

Thousands of sentimentalists will do this in the next few weeks, many to their sorrow because it will not be pleasant to be classified as a relic of better days.

But there is an embarrassing circumstance which stops thousands of others from making this sentimental journey backward in time to the scene where everything seemed possible.

It is the circumstance of being a little short of wordly goods. This does not imply that Alma Mater is a mendicant, nor that the old girl is always nagging her children for money.

It implies only that a number of things have fallen into a semblance of conspiracy to make Alma's sons and daughters painfully aware of her constant need for a lot more wherewithal than she has in her purse, in the bank, or in sight.

Being thus aware of Alma Mater's pecuniary situation, it becomes as difficult to return to her presence without dreading a tap for money as to be oblivious to evidence that the old lady is not what she used to be.

And in the remote eventuality that the tap is not made, the stabbing pangs of a bad conscience for not bowling up to the bursar's office with a three-figured contribution are likely to spoil the occasion anyway.

There is no help for this, particularly now when it appears that national policy is going to be to eliminate all education not financed out of the ever-flowing source of public taxation. But it would help indigent alumni if their institutions would cause to be sent to them occasionally a note to this effect:

That Joe Gradd '00 is welcome home; that he and Josephine Gradd, same vintage, look like a million dollars—no hint intended; that it is a pleasure to report all funds are in good condition as of the moment, and that there is not a thing on earth which Alma Mater needs or wants except the ineffable pleasure of having these sterling characters back under her wing for a few hours of cheap reminiscence.

The least it could do would be to offset the impression common among graduates and former students that Alma never thinks of them after graduation day, except in terms of cash on the barrelhead.

Marion County History Brevities

During the first year of the Civil War rumors were rife that a camp of Knights of the Golden Circle existed within the bounds of Marion County. Whether it be a fact or not, it is not apparent that it reflects upon any political party of this section. In October, 1861, affidavits and certificates were published in The Republican, weekly newspaper, signed by Samuel Cheney, T. H. Dickerson, J. W. Hood, Daniel Snyder and Christian Martin, to the effect that they had seen signs of a lodge of K. G. C. in Green Camp Township. Mr. Cheney swore that he was initiated into it. A. H. Keplar and John Sowers published formal certificates that they had been asked by several parties, naming them, to join the K.G.C.

What Are Our Korean Peace Terms?

By Walter Lippmann

THERE is a missing link in the argument which makes it difficult for the President and Secretary Marshall to explain the Korean policy to the people and also, I believe, to administer their policy with the best hope of success. The missing link is a plain and concrete statement of the military terms on which we are prepared to offer and to accept an armistice.

Secretary Marshall told the Senators Tuesday that "for the last five years our supreme policy has been to curb Communist aggression and, if possible, to avoid another world war in doing so. The execution of this policy has required extraordinary patience, firmness and determination in meeting and helping our allies to meet challenges in Iran, Greece, Turkey, Trieste, Berlin and Indo-China, and finally Korea.

LIPPMANN

Now, if the analogy is correct for Korea, then we must look carefully at the terms on which the challenge in Iran, Greece, Turkey, Trieste, Berlin were met. In each case they were met when the status quo ante had been restored, when our adversaries recognized the state of affairs which had been legally accepted before they challenged it.

* * *

IN IRAN THE Soviet troops were at last withdrawn in accordance with the wartime agreement.

In Greece the rebellion against the recognized government was suppressed.

In Turkey certain menacing gestures and threats affecting the integrity of Turkisn territory and of Turkish independence were discontinued.

In Trieste the Yugoslavs stopped challenging the position of the western allies.

In Berlin the blockade was lifted and western access to Berlin by railway and highway was restored.

By the analogy, then, our terms in Korea would be the restoration of the 38th parallel as the boundary between a Korean government with its capital at Seoul, and a Korean government with its capital at Pyongyang. Whether an end to the war on these terms would be described as a "defeat" or "stalemate" or a "victory" would seem to depend on who is talking.

GEN. MACARTHUR, apparently, would describe such a conclusion as a defeat. But Gen. Ridgway, who did such extraordinary things in averting what looked like a military defeat, went on record two months ago saying that "it would be a tremendous victory for the United Nations if the war ended with our forces in control up to the 38th parallel." By the standards of the armistice imposed on Japan and Germany in 1945, what Gen. Ridgway calls a tremendous victory would not be a victory at all. But if the Berlin airlift was a victory, then this would also be a victory.

All of this goes to show only that there are many ways of describing that elusive but glittering thing which in war there is no substitute for. When, however, the word victory is used in a serious discussion by statesmen and by military commanders engaged in the formation of policy and of strategy, it is not a glamorous and absolute but a prosaic and relative term. Victory then means getting the best that can be gotten at the price you are able, or are willing, to pay.

THUS, IN BERLIN, the Russians experimented with a limited blockade—that is to say a blockade on the ground but not in the air. We made a limited reply, we did not challenge them on the ground but we established the airlift through the corridor which they had not blockaded. This limited and restricted struggle, in which each side used only limited means, could not and did not end in a decisive victory for either side. The Red army still surrounds Berlin and it cannot be forced to go away without a world war. Yet the Red army can not take Berlin without beginning a world war.

Since neither the Russians nor we have as yet thought that a decisive settlement for Berlin was worth a world war, we have accepted an indecisive result.

Berlin is, in fact, the perfect example of a military stalemate and of its political consequences. When the Russians challenged the existing position in Berlin and when we resisted, our "victory" consisted in restoring the unsatisfactory and "indecisive" situation which existed before the challenge.

THE PRESIDENT has not, it seems to me, ever made it clear and plain that he recognizes and accepts the fact that in a limited war—like the Korean—victory or success can be no more than what Gen. Ridgway defined as victory: namely, a stalemate at the 38th parallel, an armistice which restores what the aggression of 1950 challenged, namely, the partition of Korea at the 38th Parallel. That is the substance and the limit of the military victory that can be had by a limited war. Beyond that there can be a negotiated peace in Korea if the Russians and the Chinese wish to negotiate one. If they do not, then the best that can be had in Korea is an armed frontier at the 38th Parallel

A clarification of this sort would remove the impression that the Truman-Marshall-Acheson policy is to fight indecisively and interminably a war of attrition between our very small forces and the inexhaustible military manpower of eastern and central Asia. I do not at all think that Gen MacArthur has a plan for ending the war quickly, decisively and cheaply But the alternative, as the administration is expounding it, that we are going to kill so many Chinese in Korea that the war will end satisfactorily, is, I believe, as repulsive a way to announce our war aims as it is unconvincing.

THERE IS NO more reason to think that a satisfactory conclusion can be had by killing Chinese soldiers in Korea than that it can be had by bombing Chinese cities. What, for example, is the administration going to do if the Chinese, tiring of frontal attacks, adopt the tactics they used against the Japanese army—if they do not surrender, do not negotiate, do not come forward to be slaughtered and yet go on fighting? The Chinese are used to 20-year wars. They have just finished fighting a 20-year war.

It will be the greatest possible mistake, I submit, to suppose that a primitive Asian war will follow the principles of the western classic military doctrine,—with decisive battles and clear victories and clear defeats and all that. Neither casualties, nor geographical places, nor time have the same meaning in such a war as they have had in the orthodox wars with modern military powers, like Germany and Japan

The hope of ending the Korean struggle lies in the kind of transaction which we have reached either by agreement or tacitly with the Soviet Union in all other conflicts since 1945—namely in a return to the status quo ante. That means the partition of Korea. Partition is an ugly thing. But it is a lot less ugly than the war which has now destroyed the whole of Korea, and it is not to be compared in ugliness with a world war.

The reason why partition offers the best and, I imagine, the only method of ending the war is that it does recognize and protect the vital interests of China, Russia, and Japan in that part of the world. It reflects accurately the military stalemate which cannot be broken without a general war.

The Once Over

By H. I. Phillips

Spring Story

The Miracle of the Resurrection has taken place in field and garden, in yard and street. . . . Through leaf and bud and flower has come the testament to the everlasting life. The lilac in the shadow of the old barn has told overnight the deathless story more convincingly than preachers in great cathedrals through the ages. . . . The gnarled apple by the woodshed has removed in the twinkling of an eye the doubt fought by evangelists for 2,000 years.

PHILLIPS

Now from the back porch the stone is seen to be rolled away through a wondrous screen of dogwood and cherry blossom. . . . Death flames into life through the daffodil and crocus saying "I am the life." where the hard crusty earth loomed a few days back. . . . "He is not here: he is risen!" is wafted on the soft breeze coming with the rustle of an angel's wings through the magnolia and pear trees. . . . In the patch of violets beside a ragged fence is the message, "Put in thy finger and be not faithless but believing!" . . . In the tulip is seen the Chalice of the Last Supper, and through every blooming flower and greening leaf come the words, "A little while, and now ye shall not see Me: and again a little while, and ye shall see Me." . . .

All winter the gaunt trees have been the symbol of Gethsemane. . . . The bare shrubbery has been stern narrator of the betrayal in the garden and the anguish on Golgotha. . . . There had been something crosslike in the shadow of every tree on the cold barren ground . . . Through the bleak countryside one seemed to hear the voices of the scoffers at the crucifixion . . . All nature had appeared dead, with the guard set over it. . . . And now, as if by the waving of a wand, life and beauty bloom! . . . Warmth and glory return! . . . Hope and faith are fortified in a breath-taking sermon beyond the power of man to deliver.

Through the scanty blossoms in a cracked flower pot in a tenement window the first flowers of an azalia beside an East side hovel, the crushing beauty of a flowering hillside is flashed the picture of "Mary Magdalen and Mary the Mother of James and Salome very early in the morning, the sun being now risen" . . . hearing the comforting words "Ye seek Jesus of Nazareth, Who was crucified: He is risen: He is not here." . . . In every garden breeze is the odor of sweet spices

From every willow bough comes a benediction. . . . In every brook a litany. . . . The countless dandelions, like myriads of altar candles flashing against an altar cloth of green, bring the spell of the "pure and holy mysteries." . . . From pansy bed and daffodil comes "I am the power and the glory" . . . From the lowliest blossom in the rockiest and drabbest field comes "I am the resurrection and the life" Now in the miracle of spring is faith revived and fortified by a glance from the window of home, factory, office, train, hospital, bivouac and prison. . . . Here from the back porch is seen by Christian eyes the greatest story ever told And there is no religion or sect which does not find in it soul-stirring influences sustaining belief in some basic and universal teachings. Thanks, Spring, for the super production!

Marion Garden Center Notes

GARDEN LABELS

Gardeners are always hunting for the perfect garden label. Wood, lead and zinc have been followed by plastic and aluminum. The chief difficulty is finding a label that will stay in place and remain legible throughout the year.

Exhaustive tests were made with one of the newest plastic labels. The 14-inch metal support to which the label is attached has an anchor—nothing more or less than a bend in the metal—which prevents turning, dislodgment or frost heaving. To determine the most efficient angle for the anchor and the best length for the support, one of the tests was conducted in a frozen food locker where dozens of labels were stored under conditions that imitated those of soil outdoors in winter.

The first labels were a neutral green or bright orange plastic, on which the information could be written with ordinary soft lead pencil. Although the data will be readable for two years at least, it can be erased so that the label may be used again.

Today's Fashion Flash

NEW YORK

THE FASHION FORECAST for fall reads: warm-hued and pleasant, with color predominating.

Those in-the-know are predicting that autumn clothes will be as colorful as spring wardrobes. And the same popular shades will be high-fashion.

Topmost on the color calendar is purple, the hue that returned to fashion favor last spring and has steadily grown in popularity for three seasons.

Next came the gray shades, which will be especially "good" stylewise when they're accented with black. And following that, brown—the most-touted comeback color for 1951.

Next up on the fashion color list will be blue, from pale babyfied shades to the rich royals.

Radio Network Merger in Making

NEW YORK, May 10—(AP)—There were persistent reports today that an agreement has been reached for purchase of the American Broadcasting Co. by the Columbia Broadcasting System.

Spokesmen for both networks declined either to affirm or deny the reports, although they confirmed earlier that such a transaction has been discussed.

The purchase said to involve $26,000,000 to $28,000,000 would require approval of the Federal Communications Commission which licenses radio and television stations and regulates their operation and ownership.

It would of necessity involve a third party, since the purchase would give CBS more radio and television stations than are permitted under FCC regulations.

Draft Plans To Overcome Gas Shortage

WASHINGTON, May 10—(AP)—Utilities commissions of seven states and the District of Columbia have organized to find ways to increase the flow of fuel gas into their areas.

An official of the National Association of Railroad and Utilities Commissions told a reporter today representatives of the Ohio, Pennsylvania, New York, West Virginia, Virginia, Maryland, Kentucky and District of Columbia utility commissions met here early this week to discuss measures to overcome a critical gas shortage.

He said a committee headed by Chairman Harold L. Mason of the Ohio utilities commission was formed to work out a program. One representative from each state affected will serve with Mason.

The seven states and the district are served by the Columbia Gas System.

The official said the program probably will involve efforts to obtain allocation of steel for pipe lines and drilling machinery.

In addition he continued, Federal Power Commission approval probably will be sought for applications by major gas pipeline firms to build more lines and compressors and by the Columbia Gas System for larger gas supplies from these companies.

Completion of the program is expected within a few weeks. It then is to be submitted to the various state commissions and called to the attention of the EPC and the Petroleum Administration for Defense (PAD).

The meeting was called by the Ohio commission.
